

Committee To Pass On Recommended Primary Recount

Chairman Wall Says City Executive Committee Will Meet at Once on Matter.

JURY PROBE FAILS TO DISCLOSE FRAUD

Enough Errors Have Been Discovered, However, To Warrant Recount, Says Grand Jury.

Recommendations of the Fulton county grand jury that a recount be made of votes cast in the recent Atlanta primary Friday met with instant response when J. P. Wall, chairman of the city democratic executive committee, announced that that body would assemble immediately to decide on the matter.

The grand jury, in presenting its recommendations, said that while no flagrant violations of laws had been disclosed, partial investigation had revealed many irregularities in voting.

A meeting of the entire committee probably will be held Wednesday or Thursday of next week, and the committee as a whole will determine just what course is to be taken regarding a recount which was recommended following contests of the primary filed by Tom Morris, defeated candidate for council from the fifth ward, and Cecil Allen, defeated for the aldermanic post from the second.

Referring to investigation of the city primary, the jury pointed out that it went so far as to count the ballots cast in several wards, and while it did not find evidence of corruption or fraud, sufficient inaccuracies were disclosed to justify a request to the city democratic executive committee that a recount of the votes cast in all of the city precincts be made.

"We recommend that managers and clerks of all elections held in this county exercise greater care in counting votes, in reporting the same, and enforcing the laws applicable to such occasions," the presentments set forth.

"Under the laws governing primary elections in this state, only the managers of such elections are restrained from doing certain things, and there appears to be no law restraining the voter. Under the present circumstances, a voter may deliberately cast his vote more than one time in the same primary without committing any offense against the law.

"We, therefore, recommend that appropriate laws be passed to cover such offenses and to otherwise safeguard the ballot insofar as the individual voter is concerned."

Mr. Morris Friday night hailed the action of the grand jury as a substantiation of his contentions that a recount was "fraudulently" defeated for reelection.

"Even though the grand jury found itself powerless to indict individuals for voting twice, minors for registering and casting their ballots and scores of others for irregularities, there can be no doubt that the jury found that these conditions existed," Mr. Morris said.

"There was a series of violations of the laws, which the state code fails to provide penalties for and of course nothing can be done. I believe that the executive committee will take cognizance of these, and will make the recount in accordance with the recommendations of the jury."

"I have not yet seen a copy of the presentments of the grand jury and, therefore, cannot say just what I will do about their recommendation concerning the primary," Mr. Wall said. "I will submit the entire matter to the executive committee, however, and will abide by what that body decides to do. We want to be fair, and if there have been flagrant violations of the rights of any candidate, as has been charged, then I feel sure the committee will grant the recount. We can not meet before Wednesday or Thursday of next week."

EDUCATION SEEN AS ONLY SOLUTION TO 'WET' PROBLEM

Andrews Urges 'Agencies of Social Reform Be Induced To Take Up Task of Education.'

Philadelphia, October 29.—(AP)—The prohibition law "may be shared by local with federal authorities," Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of its enforcement, warned tonight before the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

Solution of this problem, the general held, demands, in addition to enforcement, that "the agencies of social reform be induced to take up the task of education."

Painting a gloomy and "very curious picture" of the past, the dry chief took a hopeful view of the future, predicting the early elimination of rum smuggling and the plugging of the sources of supply of alcohol and beer.

Reaction Is Noted.

"Very curious reaction is the attitude of the people after they got national prohibition," he said, "the stage was auspiciously set for splendid action but an unexpected psychology caused the withdrawal of the old skilled actors of this great drama and left the stage for amateurs and a few monologists."

Councilman Morris Says Investigation Won Support

Avowing his regret that "12 months ago in my lack of information I saw fit to fight the Community Chest," Thomas C. Morris, councilman from the fifth ward, who last year enjoined the city and county appropriations to the Atlanta Community Chest, Friday forwarded his personal pledge of $50 toward this year's budget.

The councilman asserted in his letter to Bayne Gibson, president of the Chest, that he had observed the agencies of the Chest in action during the last year and had taken pains to investigate to see whether his opposition during his first year in council was justified.

Price of Gasoline Slashed Two Cents By Two Companies

Pan-American and Wofford Oil Companies Announce Reduction Effective This Morning.

OTHER COMPANIES LIKELY TO FOLLOW

Reduced Price To Apply to All Parts of State, Say Company Officials.

Reduction of 2 cents per gallon in the price of gasoline effective this morning throughout Georgia was announced Friday night by the Pan-American Petroleum corporation and the Wofford Oil company. This reduction will bring the retail gasoline price from 27 to 25 cents per gallon and the tank wagon price from 24 to 22 cents.

The Pan-American, which covers Georgia with a network of wholesale stations and retail dealers and is one of the largest petroleum concerns in the world, was first to announce the reduction. Informed of it, Wiley L. Moore, head of the Wofford company, announced that his company would make a similar cut this morning.

Mr. Moore gave no reason for the Wofford cut, further than to say that it would become effective this morning.

It was generally believed that the two-cent reduction would become general here immediately.

Guy Wilby, of the Gulf company, said he had received no orders to cut the price of gasoline from his headquarters, and that no reduction would be made until the order was received.

New York, October 29.—A group of five city blocks in Harlem has been purchased by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for the apparent purpose of erecting tenements for wage earners. It is Rockefeller's idea that homes can be built for wage-earners that are healthy, comfortable and not unbecomingly.

COOLIDGE TO KEEP HANDS OFF RACE

Smith Asserts Insult Gift Does Not Differ From Those Accepted by National Committee.

Chicago, Ill., October 29.—Just a few hours after local newspapers had printed a red-hot speech of Frank L. Smith, which contained a virtual challenge to President Coolidge, the white house today gave out a formal statement declaring that the president had expressed no attitude toward his choice for United States senator in Illinois. The president had been represented as opposed to the candidate.

Smith's speech was to the effect that there was no difference between the campaign contributions he received from Samuel Insull and the campaign cash which the republican national committee receives from big trusts to elect presidents.

News Sent Washington.

The president does not resign, he said, because big monopolies affected by tariff rates, over which the president has some executive control, contribute to republican national campaign funds. This statement was flashed to Washington shortly after 1 p. m.

My Impressions of America

The Home of Washington

(Copyright, 1926, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

At Mount Vernon the committee of ladies who had come from their several states to show me over the dwelling of the one whose name lives in every heart and whose fame is a treasure to the world at large, led me from room to room, explaining every detail and showing me all the mementoes which have been carefully collected, so as to reconstruct Washington's dwelling exactly as it had been during his life.

What charming old rooms; what atmosphere; and the sun was shining in upon it all and giving a radiance to all the old objects, lighting up all the furniture, the walls, the floors, the windows, giving one a real feeling of life, and from the windows, an enchanting view upon the lake.

Dream of Beauty.

Each lady had some tale to tell, some little anecdote, some little thing, touching events which made the great hero live again.

What peace, what softness in the lines of the lawn, what a mellow autumn coloring. Indeed, Mount Vernon was a dream of beauty that day. Every corner of the house having been to the lawn which lay emerald green at our feet and sauntered slowly down to Washington's tomb where, too, I laid a wreath of flowers.

The next visit was to the delicious old-fashioned box garden where the lovers' rosebush grows. My two young ones made their wishes beside it. Whatever their hearts desire may be, may it come true. I am sure that Washington's spirit floated over them from that better land where he dwells amongst the great.

As a special honor, a luncheon was prepared for us in Washington's banquet hall and here, too, our several hostesses had interesting anecdotes to relate; precious memories were called up until we almost felt the presence of the beloved general with us in that room.

STRAND OF AUBURN HAIR HOLDS STAGE IN AIMEE'S CASE

Keyes Asserts It Was Found in Ormiston's Trunk, Which Was Filled With Gowns.

EVANGELIST DENIES OWNING CLOTHING

Prosecutor Confident Red Hair Found in Trunk Came From Head of Woman Pastor.

Los Angeles, Calif., October 29.—(AP)—The ruddy glow of a strand of auburn hair colored today's quota of pro and con statements in the Aimee Semple McPherson conspiracy case. It was the strand of hair received by District Attorney Alan Keyes from New York, where detectives discovered it and other articles described by Keyes as "solving" the McPherson case in a trunk belonging to "Ceneth G. Ormiston, fugitive from justice and alleged companion of Mrs. McPherson at Carmel cottage during the time she says she was held in bondage by kidnappers."

Keyes announced today he was convinced the hair came from the head of Mrs. McPherson. He said he and others had compared it carefully with samples of the evangelist's locks retained in Los Angeles and that "there was such a similarity that any one could see they all came from the same head."

Mrs. McPherson, however, was just as positive that the hair never at any time belonged to her. She bitterly denounced those who would connect her with it and the dazzling display of feminine apparel found with it in the trunk of her former Angeleno temple radio operator.

The strand preceded to Los Angeles by air mail, the trunk in which it was found, by express.

Cabinet Members Plan Home Trips To Cast Ballots

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.
Washington, October 29.—The voteless capital, which is always a mere bystander in an election, will be deserted by most of its high officials next Tuesday, nearly all cabinet members following the example of President Coolidge by going back home to cast their ballots.

Commerce Hoover, who also lives in California. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine's journey is in the form of an official trip, as he will attend a hearing in Kansas City on Monday before going home to Manhattan to cast his ballot on Tuesday, and he thus is entitled to have his way paid by the government.

Butler Has Only Even Chance For Victory in Home State Of President, Experts Declare

Prosperity Claim of G. O. P. Called Bed-Time Story, as Lodge Followers Support Walsh.

BY JULIAN SNYDER.
United News Staff Correspondent.
Boston, October 25.—Senator William M. Butler, President Coolidge's chief political lieutenant and chairman of the republican national committee, has little better than a fighting chance of being elected next Tuesday, according to experienced political observers here.

A review of the political situation in the president's home state as election nears, shows that Butler has barely an even chance of defeating former Senator David I. Walsh, his democratic opponent.

Butler, under ordinary circumstances, should be considered a favorite as Massachusetts normally is republican but in the present election Butler is not assured of the 100 per cent support of the republicans.

In the first place many followers of the late Henry Cabot Lodge, the Bay state's famous old guard republican leader, have not forgotten how Butler insulted Lodge at the 1924 Cleveland republican convention.

Lodge generally had been accorded a prominent place in the G. O. P. councils, but when Butler took charge at Cleveland he shifted Lodge to the rear ranks and practically ignored him. When Lodge died two years ago, Butler was named to succeed him.

Butler now seeks election to the senate seat and the Lodge group, under the cover of a superficial harmony is reported to be whetting its axes to square accounts.

Lodge Followers Troublesome.

The Lodge followers are making as much trouble for Butler as they can on the prohibition question. When Butler announced that, contrary to Lodge's stand against prohibition, he was for law enforcement and therefore technically dry, the Lodge faction founded the Constitutional Liberty league. The league voted the prohibition evil was of greater consequence than party consideration. Many republican members of the "wet" league have been issuing statements to the press saying that the G. O. republican party was a grand old party but that they would have to vote for Walsh, who is as wet as the Atlantic ocean.

Somewhat offsetting this situation is the tremendous drive being carried on by the Anti-Saloon league and there 20 paid field agents in behalf of Butler. Tons of literature are being dumped all over the state urging the voters to "vote dry" which means for Butler.

Bed-Time Story.

Another factor that enters into the present election is the famed "prosperity claim." Although the republicans may claim credit for a national prosperity which cannot be denied, the distressing plight of the textile and leather industries in Massachusetts makes the claim locally seem like a "bed-time story." Thus Butler is deprived of the "full dinner pail" argument.

The appeal of President Coolidge in behalf of Butler has helped some, it is conceded, but whether this aid is sufficient to put Butler over as a winner is a matter for conjecture. It is possible that Massachusetts, normally republican, will elect a democratic senator.

INMAN PARK SCHOOL CAFETERIA OPENED

An up-to-date cafeteria was opened at the Inman Park school Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. A cafeteria was presented to the school by the Junior Red Cross and was designed and built by students of Tech High school under the direction of Professor Shanks.

The cafeteria has been needed at the school for some time and the Junior Red Cross and the Parent-Teacher association of the school have been serving milk to the children in special classes for several years. Many members of the P. T. A. have volunteered in various capacities to promote the work on the new cafeteria and will continue to help in the service.

AD MEN MAY MEET HERE NEXT YEAR, SAYS ATLANTAN

That the next annual meeting of the American Association of Advertising agencies will be held in Atlanta some time next fall, is the belief of St. Elmo Massengale, veteran advertising man and secretary of the association, now tending its convention in Washington, D. C.

This belief was expressed Friday in a telegram from Mr. Massengale received by the Atlanta Convention Tourist bureau.

Mr. Massengale was toastmaster at the annual banquet which was attended by President Coolidge, whose address on advertising was broadcasted over a chain of radio stations.

Choice of the 1927 convention city will be made by the association's executive committee, following invitations from New York and Chicago, besides Mr. Massengale's invitation to be advertising men to come to Atlanta.

Sees Inferiority Complexes Barring Dry Law Success

Corra Harris in a field of the farm which may be the site of her "drunkard's self-discovery place."

Many letters are coming to Corra Harris, famed Georgia author, as a result of publicity given to her plan to found a farm where drunkards may get rid of their inferiority complexes.

Mrs. Harris plan evidently stirred up nationwide interest. Authorities, however, do not entirely agree with her conclusion that men get drunk because they have an inferiority complex, and can't abstain from liquor or drugs until they get rid of it. It appears to be an open question whether such a complex can be removed as if it were a material ailment.

Mrs. Harris, whose books include "A Drunkard's Wife," says, "I have always had a desire to found a home for drunkards. Being a woman

I have never suffered from the inferiority complex that makes men drink, and so am sure I could cure a great many. Dig the inferiority complex out of them and they will stop drinking. Men use whisky because it gives them a feeling of sufficiency and power, not taking into account the aftermath."

Prohibition has not removed the need for such farms, Mrs. Harris holds, but rather has shown the need for them. In effect, she opines that the difficulty encountered by officers in enforcing the dry law has shown that men afflicted with an inferiority complex are determined to get liquor, whatever the obstacles. Remove the complexes, and no dry law will be necessary.

BAPTISTS STUDY SPIRITUAL VALUES

Birmingham, Ala., October 25.—(AP) Sixteen hundred Baptist college students here tonight studied together the lesson of spiritual values as applied to their lives. Led by J. E. Lambdin, Nashville, Tenn., the delegates attending the first all-southern Baptist students conference turned their attention to the higher aspects of Christian living.

Mr. Lambdin who is associate secretary of the B. Y. P. U. of the south, told of the opportunities offered by that organization while Miss Juliette Mather, Birmingham, pointed out the young peoples work in the woman's missionary union as a field of service. The speakers were made by Dr. J. T. Watts, Sunday school secretary of Virginia and Rev. Morris Palmer, of Memphis.

America would be a thoroughly Christianized and a knowledge of Jesus Christ would be carried to all the nations of the world if the full capacities of the young people of this generation were released in Christian service, is the opinion of Dr. L. R. Scarborough, president of the southern Baptist theological seminary, Fort Worth, Texas, who delivered the principal address of the evening.

A Louisville quartet and Rev. William Lewis, negro song leader from Dallas Texas, contributed special music for the program.

PARKER TO DRAW CHARTER REQUEST FOR COTTON CO.

Robert S. Parker has been retained to draw up the application for a charter for the organization of the Georgia Cotton Finance and Holding company, a million-dollar corporation, created to facilitate the marketing of 300,000 bales of Georgia cotton. Mr. Parker is of the firm of Randolph, Parker and Fortson.

J. S. Floyd, vice president of the Atlanta & Lowry National bank and chairman of the special committee appointed by the Georgia bankers association to finance retirement of Georgia's surplus cotton, made the announcement of Mr. Parker's employment Friday, stating that organization of the corporation was going forward with all possible speed. Mr. Parker was unanimously selected by the committee and he announced that he would begin work on the details of the application at once.

Georgia Oak Stock Will Go Into Rudder Of 'Old Ironsides'

That Georgia oak will be used for the rudder stock in the reconstruction of "Old Ironsides," the frigate Constitution, was assured Friday in an announcement from the office of United States Senator William J. Harris that blue prints and specifications have been sent by Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, chairman of the national executive committee in charge, to George D. Lowe, of Brunswick.

The wood originally used for the rudder of "Old Ironsides" was cut at Cannon's Point on St. Simon's island, and, according to a letter from Admiral Andrews, "it would be most fitting and appropriate that the offer of Georgia oak for the new rudder should be accepted."

STONE TILE CONCRETE STANDS HIGH HEAT TEST

Chicago, October 25.—(AP)—Withstanding 1,900 degrees of heat that would melt either silver or brass, a 12-inch wall constructed in the Underwriters' Laboratories here has been the means of determining the extraordinary fire resistance properties of stone tile type of concrete.

The tests will be accepted by fire insurance companies. The wall prevented the passage of heat to such an extent that combustible materials placed at the opposite side from the blaze would not burn for at least seven hours.

Under 80-Pound Pressure.

Twelve inches thick, the stone tile concrete wall was exposed on one side to an especially built furnace. Hydraulic jacks were put under the lower beam on which the wall rested, and all during the test a pressure of 80 pounds to the square inch was maintained on the panel by these jacks.

This put the wall under a pressure considered by most building codes the maximum allowable for this type of masonry. Then the blaze was turned against one side of the wall while observers watched the pyrometers. At the end of five minutes they indicated 1,900 degrees of heat; in half an hour they had raised to 1,400 degrees, and at the end of three hours 1,900 degrees—a heat which will melt silver or brass.

Slow Heat on Reverse Side.

Temperatures on the other side of the wall rose very slowly and it was not until seven hours had passed that the unexpected heat reached 300 degrees F. This is considered by fire authorities the temperature at which easily combustible material will ignite.

The wall, hauled into the open, was red hot and could be approached only by men clothed in asbestos. Cold water was shot against it and brought down the temperature quickly to determine what would be the effect of a fire hose stream in an actual conflagration.

Next day the pressure of the hydraulic jacks was doubled, causing a stress of 160 pounds on each square inch of the wall, or 11 1/2 tons each square foot. It had no effect.

ATLANTA TEACHERS SEEKING CHARTER FOR CREDIT UNION

Application for a charter to operate a teachers' mutual banking organization that will encourage thrift among the members and make loans to those in financial distress was filed Friday at the state capitol. The petition, asking for a charter for the Atlanta Public School Teachers' Credit union, provides for the selection of officers and directors from the school teaching forces, and shares to be sold at $5 each.

Included in those signing the application were H. Reed Hunter, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools; W. S. Brown, Miss Elizabeth Baker, Miss Lodie, A. G. Martin, B. H. Pew, Mrs. O. M. Barnett, W. J. Scott, president of the Atlanta Public School Teachers' association, and Miss Maude Rhodes, president of the Atlanta-Fulton county unit, Georgia Educational association.

STEEL CABINET FOR CITY BONDS ASKED BY WEST

Approval of a proposal of B. Graham West, city comptroller, that a steel cabinet in which to keep the $8,000,000 in bonds voted last March featured the meeting of the finance committee of city council Friday. There are $,000 of the bonds and Mr. West contended that some means to protect them should be taken.

Only routine matters were transacted Friday by the council. Funds of both these committees have been exhausted for the year and no new work can be carried forward until additional money is appropriated in the January finance sheet.

URGE CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS IN FULTON

Merger of several small schools throughout the county into one larger school, offering better facilities, and the consolidation of the East Point and College Park systems with the Fulton county system, were recommendations of the special educational committee of the Fulton county grand jury which completed its service Friday.

The committee made a survey of the 29 schools in the county system and reported that facilities at some of the schools were sadly lacking. The little one and two-teacher schools, in which a single instructor has charge of children scattered from the kindergarten to the high school in their studies, must be done away with, the grand jury committee declared.

Pointing to similar findings of the July session, the grand jury urged passage of the constitutional amendment which appears on the general election ballot November 2, and which will allow the county board of education to levy a 1-mill school tax. This levy will replace a law under which some counties were levying five mills before the law was nullified by the supreme court.

Necessity for the passing of the county school tax amendment was set forth in the grand jury's presentment as follows:

"Fulton county in the last few years has put on a program of erecting permanent and modern school buildings in the place of the old, inadequate school houses. The salaries of the teachers of the county system have been raised, but are still low in comparison with salaries paid to teachers in other systems. The progress that has been made is due to the fact funds have been provided by a county-wide tax of one mill, which has been levied for the benefit of the schools, and in order for the county system to maintain its present standard and to carry on its much-needed building program, it is necessary that this special tax be continued."

"This tax has been levied for the last several years, but recently its legality has been questioned and in order to remove all doubts there is pending a constitutional amendment to be voted on by the people of Georgia at the next general election. In our opinion, this constitutional amendment should be ratified so that there would be no question but that sufficient funds will be available to carry on the cause of education in this county. If this law is not enacted, we feel that the result for the county system would be disastrous and the usefulness of the school system seriously handicapped and hindered."

"We recommend to the voters within the corporate limits of Atlanta and to all other voters of the state the support of this constitutional amendment. With the funds derived from this tax, permanent school buildings will be erected, and as the corporate limits of the city are extended, these buildings will become the property of the Atlanta school system."

POLLS WILL CLOSE AT 6 ON TUESDAY

Polls in Atlanta, College Park, East point and Hapeville will close at 6 instead of 7 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the general election, county election officers announced Friday.

These polls will open at 7 o'clock in the morning.

County precinct polls will be open from 8 in the morning until 3 in the afternoon. It was stated. In the city, two precincts will be located in each ward except the first and eleventh.

In addition to the election of state officers, Tuesday's primary will include nine proposed amendments to the state constitution, one affecting Fulton county providing for restoration of the one-mill school tax eliminated recently by court decisions.

JUDGE LUKE TO HOLD FITZGERALD REVIVAL

Fitzgerald, Ga., October 25.—(Special)—Judge Roscoe Luke of the state court of appeals has accepted an invitation extended by the Business Men's Evangelistic club to conduct a week's revival here in April.

Judge Luke has done extensive evangelistic work in Georgia for the past several years and is considered one of the foremost lay-preachers in the state.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Since Halloween comes on Sunday night—Saturday night is the proper time to give your Halloween dance, so make all arrangements and get sufficient Merita Bread Saturday.

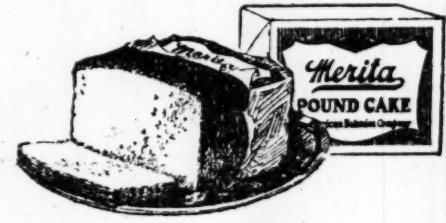

Glorious Hallowe'en—when ghosts walk and witches talk—and every one is happy and carefree. What a grand time you will have at that Hallowe'en Frolic.

But behind the scenes, someone must make ready for this grand and glorious frolic. There are decorations to be hung, fortune telling booths to be rigged up, witches cauldrons to be made, besides numerous other queer things—and last but not least, a plenty of good tasty sandwiches—without which the party will not be a success.

To make the best sandwiches with the least amount of trouble, select Merita Bread—for Merita Bread not only adds flavor to the sandwiches, but its firm, even texture holds the moisture longer and keeps them from drying out so quick or becoming soggy. And, too, Merita Bread slices so clean and can be so easily cut into the many fancy shapes that make sandwiches so attractive and appetizing. So before you start the sandwich making, be sure you have a plentiful supply of Merita Bread.

And Delicious Merita Cake for Dessert

You most certainly will want two or three of these delicious Merita Cakes for the party. There are two kinds, Pound and Layer, either appropriate for the occasion. They come in convenient pound packages. Order them the same time you order your Merita Bread.

Man's condition serious Forced to give up work when infection spreads Read how he healed the trouble

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 20.—"I had a very bad cut under my eye and also a dog-bite on my hand, both of which became infected. Although I did everything for these infections, nothing helped. They seemed to grow worse instead of better and were pronounced chronic. When my hand got very bad and when the infection caused by the cut under my eye spread, I began to give up all hope, as I was unable to do any work. Then a friend of mine recommended Resinol Ointment. After using about half of a small jar I was completely cured and am now back to work again. Resinol is certainly a wonderful salve and I mean to have a jar on hand from now on." (Signed) Edward Smith, 1016 Dolman St.

Witches Club Dedicates Tablets at Home for Girls

Expressing appreciation for the Atlanta Community Chest's help in carrying on the work of the Eliza Manget Home, for working girls, officers and friends of the Atlanta Witches' club dedicated two memorial tablets at the home in impressive ceremonies Friday afternoon.

One tablet is in memory of Mrs. Eliza Manget, presented by her son, John Manget. The other tablet is in memory of Mrs. Viola Gray Ives, former officer of the Witches' club, presented by her mother, Mrs. A. O. Woodward, and sister, Mrs. W. J. Poole.

Speaking for John Manget in dedicating the first tablet, James Norton, secretary of the Atlanta Christian council, praised the "foremost and real Christianity expressed by the Witches' club" in fostering a home that would serve at once as a residence and as a refuge from temptation for thousands of girls who come to Atlanta as strangers from other communities and other sections.

"It is here that the great hearts of the Witches, supported by Atlanta through its Community Chest, have expressed the spirit of love in its most beautiful form," he declared. He said that activities of the Georgia Training School for Girls and similar organizations such as the Community Home for Girls, Florence Crittendon Home and others supported by the Community Chest, are imperative to make up for past failures to give help before disaster occurred.

Gives Club's Gratitude.
Mrs. E. E. Huguley, charter member of the Witches' club, voiced the club's gratitude to the Chest for relief from its former struggle for cash, through tag days or direct separate appeals, to keep up the work it had started. Mrs. Marguerite Murphy, head of the club, who presided, accepted the tablets.

The club was organized 12 years ago and affiliated with city federation of women's clubs. It is composed of young matrons interested in social service, with no paid officer and a membership limited to 25. Before the Community Chest, it raised money by

HARRIS WILL ATTEND IMPEACHMENT TRIAL

United States Senator William J. Harris is in Birmingham, Ala., and will leave that city within a few days for Washington to attend, on November 10, the impeachment trial of Federal Judge English, of Illinois. It was announced Friday.

Senator Harris does not expect to return to Atlanta until March, as the short session of congress starts on December 22, though he may make a flying visit or two here during lulls in the session, it was stated.

NEW STAR MAIL ROUTE WILL BE ESTABLISHED

Establishment of a new star mail route from Duluth to Atlanta effective November 8, was announced Friday by the postoffice department. The new route will supply additional mail service between Duluth and Atlanta via Burlington, Duluth, Silver City, Cumming, Alpharetta and Roswell. Mail picked up on the route will make night trains leaving Atlanta, the route being effective only one way and six times a week.

EDUCATION WEEK OBSERVANCE URGED

Governor Clifford Walker, in an official proclamation Friday, has designated the week beginning November 1 as American education week in Georgia.

The chief executive recommended that all local officers, schools, individuals, clubs and organizations in Georgia observe the week by studying the local, state and nation problems in education "to the end that education may be advanced and that Georgia may take rank where she ought to rank educationally among the states of the union."

Declaring that while progress made in education in Georgia during the past decade and a half has been remarkable, Governor Walker said, "contemplation of this worthy achievement must not blind us to the fact that adequate educational opportunities have not yet been provided throughout the state in either elementary or the secondary schools." Large numbers, he said, have not yet been reached by the blessings of an education.

"These educational needs," the governor pointed out in his proclamation, "are a challenge to consecration and action. Every effort must be put forth to provide every child in the Empire State of the South that educational opportunity which his need and his capacity demand."

$50,000 DAMAGE VERDICT AFFIRMED

The state court of appeals Friday affirmed a decision of the Fulton superior court awarding Eula Mae Townsend $50,000 for the death of her husband, William L. Townsend, a freight train conductor on the Western & Atlantic railroad. Townsend was killed near Clinton, Tenn., on the train running from Atlanta to Chattanooga, July 14, 1924.

Atlantan Given Carnegie Medal For Saving Girl

Clarence M. Smith, 27, of 290 Elizabeth street, has been awarded a Carnegie medal for saving a young woman from drowning at Pablo Beach, Fla., on July 30, 1924, according to advice from Pittsburgh, Pa., where the Carnegie medal commission met recently.

Mr. Smith is an employee of post-office station B.

While swimming in deep water with an outgoing tide at Pablo Beach, Miss Paula Gillette, 21, of Jacksonville, became exhausted by her efforts to return to shallow water against the strong undertow.

Advised of the girl's peril by her little brother, Smith, who was fully dressed and sleeping in an automobile, ran to the beach, pulled off much of his clothing and swam out 200 yards to bring the girl in. Miss Gillette was unconscious when he reached her side, and he had a battle to reach shore with her because of the strong tide and the weight he had to tow, and because of the breakers which rendered the undertow near shore almost impossible.

Finally reaching shore, he dropped exhausted on the beach, while two boys who reached Miss Gillette as Smith fell revived her.

CARNEGIE HERO BODY AWARDS 24 MEDALS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., October 29.—(AP)—The Carnegie Hero Fund commission, in full meeting here late today, recognized 24 acts of heroism by awarding two silver and 22 bronze medals, in addition to pensions aggregating $2,580 annually and $14,600 for other worthy purposes. Five of the heroes cited lost their lives in the commission of heroic deeds.

Watchman Loses Life.

Herbert H. Freeland, 786 Weston road, Toronto, Ontario, Canada, killed while attempting to rescue a woman and two children from a runaway horse at Toronto on March 25, 1924. His son, Earl W. H. Freeland, of Toronto, received a bronze medal.

James P. Clayton, 30 Atlantic avenue, Long Branch, N. J., drowned when he attempted to rescue a girl at Long Branch on July 13, 1926. His widow was awarded a bronze medal with benefits of $75 monthly and $5 a month for a son.

One Girl Gets Medal.

Mattie B. Ross, 421 Schumacker avenue, Marselles, Ill., crossing watchman, killed attempting to save a girl from being killed by a train at Marselles on January 29, 1926. The widow was awarded a silver medal and benefits of $80 monthly.

ACCUSED OF FRAUD IN USING MAILS, TWO MEN ARE HELD

D. W. Nichols and H. D. Gaines, charged with using the mails to defraud, Friday were held for the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner Ledbetter under $1,000 bonds each.

The third defendant in the case, J. G. Grimes, was unable to appear, as he is confined in a sanitarium, according to a statement in commissioner's court.

The charge brought by postoffice inspectors against the trio is that of misrepresenting their products and advertisements. The complaint of the government deals specifically with the advertisements of defendants of "day-old baby chicks for sale," the government charging that shipment was made from a point foreign to the point of advertised shipment, with the result that the chicks suffered from longer transit.

Luckie Street Widening Program Is Launched At Enthusiastic Meet

Association Formed To Push Project for 70-Foot Highway Linking Important Sections.

Election of W. W. Waits, chairman and George H. Sims, secretary, of the new organization, the improvement of Luckie street, was the first order of business at the meeting. The association was formed to push the widening of Luckie street from North avenue to the center of the city, a project which has been pending for many years. The association will have a headquarters at the residence of Mr. Waits, 1000 North avenue.

The name of Luckie Street Improvement Association was chosen by the citizens for the new organization. The association will have a headquarters at the residence of Mr. Waits, 1000 North avenue.

Plan 70-Foot Street. According to the proposed plan Luckie street will be widened and made a 70-foot street. The street will be 50 feet wide with two 10-foot sidewalks. The widening will be from North avenue to the center of the city.

Maps of Plan Shown. Charles E. Kauffman, engineer of the city construction department, gave estimates of the cost for the widening and presented maps showing the proposed plan.

W. Z. Smith, manager of the city water works department, pointed out that if the Luckie street widening is completed, it will be a great benefit to the city.

HARVEST FESTIVAL STAGED AT JACKSON

Jackson, Ga., October 29.—(Special)—Staging a wonderful come-back in 12 months' time and celebrating the improved conditions of 1926 as compared with 1925, the fourth year, Butts county celebrated today with a complete showing of its agricultural, live stock, manufacturing, school and club work exhibits with the Harvest festival. A crowd estimated at from 4,000 to 7,000 was present, many neighboring counties being represented.

The celebration was opened with the crowning of the queen of the harvest festival, Miss Ruby Moore, with Major Joel B. Mallet in charge of the exercises. Then followed a parade of the agricultural and school floats, organizations and industrial floats and school children.

The parade was led by the 22d infantry band from Fort McPherson and the Jackson R. E. Mallet and Captain E. S. Settle as marshals of the day.

At 11 o'clock Dr. J. Spole Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Atlanta, delivered an address in the courthouse with thankfulness being the central theme. "Self-satisfaction is holding Georgia back," declared Dr. Lyons. He outlined a prosperity program that includes the pushing of churches, schools, reading of daily and agricultural papers and the installation of the radio, making every farm self-supporting through increased production of corn, wheat, oats and rice, for family and live stock consumption and a surplus to sell and surplus, and the growing of fruits, berries, etc., as a matter of recreation and profit.

A colorful feature of the afternoon program was the baby show or children's parade with 45 entries.

The exhibits, consisting of agricultural and live stock resources, school work, women's work, etc., were declared to have been the best ever assembled in the county. The live stock exhibit, consisting of Jersey and Guernsey dairy cows, together with a number of the calf club members, was declared by the judge of the department to have been the largest and most representative ever seen at a county fair in Georgia.

Band concerts, moving pictures, a fiddlers' convention and an old-fashioned dance were features of the afternoon and night program.

The Butts County Harvest festival is a continuation of the jubilee of 1924 and the Butts county centennial of 1925. The idea will probably be continued next year with the prosperity festival.

The judging of exhibits was completed during the day and the announcement of the winners was made in the evening.

The Towaliga Agricultural and school float won first prize, the Buttrick district second, and the Cedar Rock float third. In the race of Jackson won first prize, the U. D. C. second, and the W. C. T. U. third.

Razor Believed Used in Choir Murders Found

Jersey City, N. J., October 29.—(P)—Recovery of a razor believed to have been used to cut the throat of Mrs. Eleanor Mills when she was slain four years ago with the Rev. Edward W. Hall and issuance of a permit to exhume the clergyman's body from a Brooklyn cemetery, were new developments in the famous murder case today.

The razor, bearing dark stains, and, according to Joseph A. Faurot, former police inspector of New York, giving evidence that it had been under analysis by experts, was brought to the office of Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson by Frank Caprio, who worked on the original investigation for eight days.

Supreme Court Justice Dunne, of Brooklyn, issued the order for exhumation of the minister's body. The autopsy will be performed by Dr. Otto H. Schultze, who yesterday examined the body of Mrs. Mills. He will attempt to determine the course of the bullet which passed through the clergyman's head, which the state declared has never been established.

Report of Autopsy. Recovery of the razor followed a preliminary report of Dr. Schultze, who yesterday performed an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mills.

The disclosures, Simpson said, were clinaxed by the assertion that no autopsy previously had been made on the body, contrary to the reports of authorities who conducted the investigation four years ago.

Dr. Schultze informed him that a razor had been used to slash the woman's throat. Two gashes were made; each started at the back and ended underneath the chin.

MEMPHIS BANKERS FINANCE COTTON

Memphis, Tenn., October 29.—(P)—Bankers and cotton marketing experts of the central south laid plans here today for financing the retirement of 600,000 bales of the present season's cotton crop grown in the Memphis territory.

Survey by Eugene Meyer, chairman of a cotton relief commission named by President Coolidge, the bankers conference determined upon the formation of a finance corporation with a capital stock of $2,750,000, which should borrow money from the federal intermediate credit banks at the rate of $10 for each dollar represented by the company's stock.

This finance corporation, similar to those undertaken in other cotton growing states visited by Mr. Meyer, is designed to retire a part of the surplus crop by lending to farmers at the approximate rate of nine cents per pound on their cotton, accepting warehouse receipts as security.

The proposed corporation's loans to growers will run for 18 or 20 months. No other existing financial institution is prepared to lend money on cotton, for this period, Mr. Meyer pointed out.

A committee, representing the cotton raising territory of west Tennessee, Mississippi, extreme eastern Arkansas, southwest Kentucky, and southeast Missouri, was named to make necessary arrangements for organization of the finance corporation.

Execution of plans laid here today, joined with successful carrying out of similar enterprises to provide for the retirement of the 1926 crop surplus, which has been estimated at around 4,000,000 bales.

Before leaving for Washington tonight, Mr. Meyer and A. C. Williams, chairman of the federal farm loan board, and Mr. Meyer's associate on the survey of the southern cotton situation which ended here today, issued a statement expressing optimism in the prospect for success of relief plans.

The statement said in part: "We have just completed our trip through the south. We have been met everywhere with fine spirit of cooperation on the part of bankers, business men and representatives of the agricultural interest. Steps are being taken to organize cotton finance corporations to serve North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Kentucky, Missouri and Arkansas—a group of nine cotton states with an aggregate capital of $14,000,000 having capacity to borrow from the federal intermediate credit banks a total of $160,000,000, if necessary, for the purpose of financing the storage of approximately 4,000,000 bales of cotton of the 1926 crop, to be marketed not earlier than the first of November.

Development from now, unless favorable conditions make it advisable, under the energetic campaigns are being undertaken, with every prospect of elimination of the cotton surplus in all these states in cooperation with other agencies, to bring about an adjustment of the acreage in the cotton belt to the demand for cotton, to be more profitable under present conditions, from 25 to 35 per cent of the acreage planted to cotton this year."

Woman Describes Toledo 'Sluggers' After Encounter

Toledo, October 29.—(United News)—A terrifying man who "growled" fiercely as he advanced toward her and her son, club in hand, Mrs. Rose Kios as the "slugger" for whom a city-wide search is in progress.

While every section of Toledo was being searched, and two more persons arrested on suspicion of being the slugger who Monday night brutally murdered Miss Lilly Crox, who has terrorized the women of the city at intervals for more than a year, Mrs. Kios told police that she had encountered the hunted man Thursday night.

"The man was crouching against a house when we saw him," Mrs. Kios told the police Friday. "He looked as we approached and advanced toward us, growling as he came. He had a club in his hand."

"As we ran to a neighbor's house," she said, "the man disappeared through the driveway. The neighbor went into his yard with a gun and shot once at what he thought was the clubber."

Thirteen suspects have been arrested, but no definite information has yet been procured as to the "slugger's" whereabouts. None of those under suspicion are believed by police to be the maniac with the record of four heinous murders and seven vicious assaults on Toledo women in the last year.

The police are in possession of a report that a stranger intruded in the Crox home last year. He was well dressed, appearing at a rear window, he scowled, hurled insulting remarks and departed. This incident occurred at a time when the first "slugger" outbreaks terrified the city.

Circus Rider Tries Bear And Finds Soft Saddle

Emil Pallenberg, shown above, astride one of the big bruins which will be seen here in the big Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus Monday.

With the "greatest show on earth" are 73 bareback equestrians. Aside from these are the 150 men and women who mount the horses of the equine ballet. Again, there are those who handle the thoroughbreds that hurdle obstacles or appear in the menage acts.

But of the entire number there is but one who qualifies as a rider of bears. He is Emil Pallenberg, trainer of black, brown and cinnamon bruins. "So far as is known, Pallenberg is the world's only 'bear back' rider. So far as the rest of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey artists are concerned, he is entirely welcome to the title."

"I'd rather ride the tails and heels of the show's whole 900 horses than throw a leg over that package of 'wool' by diverting to other rules, 'hoofs and hazards'."

At which Pallenberg only smiles.

LIFE TERMS GIVEN IN OSAGE MURDER

Oklahoma City, Okla., October 29.—(P)—After months of work in which thousands of dollars was spent, the government today convicted William K. Hale, northern Oklahoma cattle man and alleged leader of a murder conspiracy that struck terror into the Osage tribe of Indians several years ago.

Hale, known as the "king of the Osage hills," and John Ramsey, a cowboy farmer, were found guilty by a jury in federal court on a charge of slaying Henry Roan, an Osage, who was shot to death, the government charged, so that Hale could collect $25,000 insurance which he carried on the Indian's life. The jury imposed life sentences.

Score Meek Death. Nearly a score of persons met violent deaths in the Osage county within the space of two years. As death followed death, the Osages, the richest aboriginal people in the world, became terrorized. Some strung electric lights about their homes at night for protection.

Investigations were started but they came to naught. Persons believed to have knowledge of the mysterious killings were found dead, one in what was made to appear a train accident.

The government stepped in to protect its Indian wards. Department of justice agents filtered into the Osage country. For months they worked, apparently without progress. They entered penitentiaries in the south-western Oklahoma convicts who had had dealings with Hale. Then came the arrest of the cattle baron, his nephew, Ernest Burkhardt, and Ramsey.

Held on State Charges. Before being taken over by federal authorities, Hale and Ramsey were held on state charges of murder in connection with the death of W. E. Smith, who, with his Indian wife and a servant girl, was killed in an explosion which demolished the Smith home.

Smith's Indian wife was a member of a wealthy Osage family, which, it was charged, Hale plotted to wipe out.

Ernest Burkhardt pleaded guilty to a murder charge in connection with the dynamiting of the Smith home and named his uncle, Hale, as the instigator of the plot. Burkhardt is now serving a life sentence in the Oklahoma penitentiary.

Government Takes Hand. The government claimed jurisdiction in the Roan case on the ground that he was slain on Indian property. At the first trial of Hale and Ramsey several months ago, the jury disagreed.

Witnesses at the first trial were afraid to talk but their stories were gradually unfolded as they gained confidence.

Hale's attorneys announced intention of appealing the verdict to the circuit court of appeals. Both defendants received the verdict calmly today.

Fix the work harnesses at snare times so they will be in good shape when they are needed. A Government letter, No. F-160, will give you some helpful suggestions. Ask for a copy of a postcard addressed to the office of a wealthy Osage family, which, it was charged, Hale plotted to wipe out.

BANDIT SUSPECTS TAKEN IN INDIANA

After signing waivers of extradition earlier in the day, three men and a woman, wanted in Indiana in connection with the recent robbery of the Union Trust company, left Atlanta Friday afternoon in care of Inspector C. M. Worley, of the Indianapolis police force, and his assistants.

Extradition was waived by G. E. Scott, alias Gene Price; May Scott, alias Ida King; C. H. Satterfield, alias Paul Vernon, and E. L. Carter, alias Earl Weiss, after Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court had dissolved a petition for habeas corpus filed by Len B. Gillebeau, counsel for the quartet.

The four suspects were arrested in a downtown hotel Monday night by Detectives J. H. Satterfield and J. D. McGee on advice from Chattanooga police authorities, who were in turn notified by members of the Indianapolis police force.

Search of the baggage of the quartet revealed more than $11,000 in cash, six expensive pistols and a large quantity of valuable clothing.

Immediately after the arrest was made, Indianapolis police were notified and Inspector Worley, an official of the Union Trust company, came here and identified the men as being in the bank holdup.

Each of the three men is said to have a criminal record, and Inspector Worley came here armed with extradition papers and records of the three suspects.

The writ of habeas corpus alleged that the trio were being held without due process of law and that no legal warrant had been shown for their arrest. Attorney Guilbeau told the court that his clients had decided to return to Indianapolis with the officers and did not want to be held here for the hearing. Judge Humphries dismissed the proceedings at Attorney Guilbeau's request.

FEARS CONFUSION OVER SAME NAMES

MONTEZUMA SENT FOR CORTEZ
SPANIARDS LEAVE THE CITY ONCE IF THEY HOPE TO GO ALIVE. CORTEZ, TO GAIN TIME, DECIDED HIMSELF READY TO GO, BUT SAID IT WOULD BE NECESSARY TO BUILD THREE SHIPS AT VERA CRUZ TO TRANSPORT HIS MEN, AND ASKED FOR ASSISTANCE FOR HIS CARPENTERS AND MATERIAL TO DO IT. HE ALSO INFORMED MONTEZUMA THAT IF THE SPANIARDS WERE FORCED TO LEAVE, MONTEZUMA WAS TO ACCOMPANY THEM AS A HOSTAGE. THIS MONTEZUMA DID NOT LIKE.

SOMETIME BEFORE THIS INCIDENT, CORTEZ HAD SENT ONE HUNDRED MEN UNDER COMMAND OF DE LEON TO ESTABLISH A SETTLEMENT MORE CONVENIENT AND BETTER PROTECTED THAN VERA CRUZ. THIS, OF COURSE, WEAKENED HIS FORCE DECIDEDLY. CORTEZ WAS NOW VERY ANXIOUS ABOUT THE SAFETY OF HIMSELF AND HIS MEN IN VIEW OF THE CHANGED ATTITUDE OF THE AZTECS. SUDDENLY AN UNEXPECTED EVENT HAPPENED.

Fernando Cortez

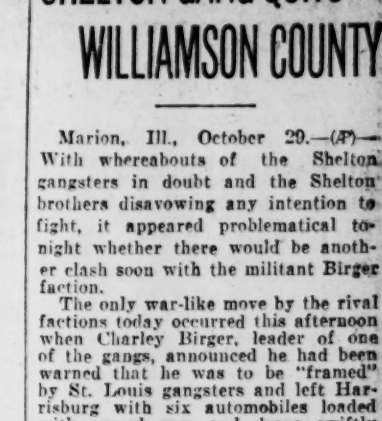

REPORTS REACHED MONTEZUMA THAT EIGHTEEN SPANISH SHIPS HAD ARRIVED AT VERA CRUZ. WHEN THE NEWS REACHED, THE SPANIARDS WERE OVERJOYED AT THE THOUGHT OF REINFORCEMENTS BUT SOBER SECOND THOUGHT CONVINCED CORTEZ THAT THE SHIPS HAD PROBABLY BEEN SENT BY VELASQUEZ TO DESTROY HIM. THE SUSPENSE WAS INTOLERABLE. HE SENT FOUR MEN TO BRING INFORMATION AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE.

By DR. ELLIOTT SHORING, NOTED HISTORIAN

MONTHS BEFORE CORTEZ HAD DISPATCHED TWO MESSENGERS WITH LETTERS TO CHARLES V OF SPAIN, TO GETHER WITH PRECISELY TAKEN FROM THE MEXICANS. THEY FOUND ON THEIR ARRIVAL IN SPAIN THAT VELASQUEZ HAD ALREADY MADE A COMPLAINT AGAINST CORTEZ WHO WAS NOW REGARDED AS A MUTINEER BY THE SPANISH AUTHORITIES. MEANWHILE, VELASQUEZ SENT AN EXPEDITION UNDER COMMAND OF NARVAEZ, A BRAVE BUT ARROGANT AND INDISCREET COMMANDER, TO CAPTURE CORTEZ. THE FORCE CONSISTED OF EIGHTEEN VESSELS CARRYING FIVE HUNDRED MEN, TWENTY HEAVY GUNS AND A LARGE SUPPLY OF AMMUNITION. THIS WAS THE FLEET WHICH HAD REACHED CORTEZ IN MONTEZUMA'S CAPITAL.

SHELTON GANG QUILTS WILLIAMSON COUNTY

Marion, Ill., October 29.—(AP)—With whereabouts of the Shelton gangsters in doubt and the Shelton brothers disavowing any intention to fight, it appeared problematical tonight whether there would be another clash soon with the militant Birger faction.

Early yesterday morning by the rival factions today occurred this afternoon when Charley Birger, leader of one of the gangs, announced he had been warned that he was to be "framed" by St. Louis gangsters and left Harrisburg with six automobiles loaded with armed men and drove swiftly westward to his roadside hideout between Marion and Harrisburg.

Earl Shelton, ill in East St. Louis, meanwhile declared that he and his two brothers had permanently withdrawn from Williamson county a month ago and no longer had any connection with the men operating in that section and commonly known as the Shelton gang. He declared Birger was "only talking" when he threatened to "get" the Sheltons in retaliation for the slaying of two Birger men last Sunday night.

The Sheltons, driven out of Franklin county yesterday by the Sheriff and state's attorney of that county, left for parts unknown.

National guard officers at Harrisburg as observers of the situation planned to remain in Williamson county until after the election next Tuesday when a successor is to be elected to Sheriff George Galloway, who has been accused by his enemies of making but little effort to enforce the law against bootleggers and gunmen.

But Birger believes everything has been straightened out now and that the dreams of the former cigar-smoking gang have not been pipe dreams after all.

Miss Eleanor Raoul Heads State Women Voters' League

Savannah, Ga., October 29.—(AP)—Miss Eleanor Raoul, of Atlanta, was elected president of the Georgia League of Women Voters today. Elected with her on the board of directors were the retiring president, Mrs. Dan C. Lyle, of College Park; Mrs. Frank McIntyre, of Atlanta; Mrs. Charles D. Russell, Savannah; Mrs. Viola Ross Napier, of Macon; and Mrs. R. L. Turman, of Atlanta.

Announcement of the election returns was to have been made at the meeting today but at the request of the president, Mrs. Lyle, it was made after the evening meeting, at which Miss Belle Sherwin, the national president, was the speaker. Mrs. Lyle gave a brief speech of acceptance.

This meeting was also given interest by the award of the voters prize, a handsome silver cup and a cash prize of $200, to the Atlanta League of Women Voters. This cup, with the cash award, is given annually to the league showing the greatest percentage of increase in the vote in a given election, as compared with the last similar election.

In announcing the award of the prize to the Atlanta league, Mrs. Lyle said that it had really been won by the Atlanta league by the fifth ward, which had brought about an increase of ten per cent in the vote. The cup was accepted by Mrs. R. L. Turman, president of the Atlanta league.

The chief event of the first evening session of the convention was a magnificent banquet held in the gold room of the Hotel Georgia, at which Mrs. Dan C. Lyle, of College Park, was toastmaster and she presented Judge A. B. Lovett, of the Savannah bar, who made the principal address of the evening. Judge Lovett spoke in an eloquent fashion of civic responsibilities and the manner in which the women of the south were endeavoring to meet them.

More than 2,000,000 hand embroidered handkerchiefs were sent from China to other countries in the past year.

REALTY FIRM LOSES IN TILT OVER STOCK

Miami, Fla., October 29.—The J. C. Penney-Gwyn corporation, headed by the New York chain store magnate, has won its first tilt in the battle for control of Miami Shores, one of Miami's largest and best known developments.

Circuit Judge A. J. Rose has permitted the Penney interests to meet a $100,000 payment on a $300,000 mortgage 15 hours before possible foreclosure, and has enjoined newly elected officers of Miami Shores from charging $100,000 insurance due from hurricane damage.

The Penney interests claim to hold 52 per cent of the stock as security for a $1,500,000 loan, and demand full voting power of the stock. Other stockholders contend that the corporation holds only lien rights on the stock and is not entitled to full voting powers. John B. Orr, Miami city commissioner, heads the Miami Shores officers recently elected over protest by the Penney interests.

Corliss Palmer's Wedding May Lead To Screen Fame

BY DAN CAMPBELL.
Hollywood, Cal., October 29.—Corliss Palmer, former Macon, Ga., cigarette girl and beauty contest winner, and Eugene V. Brewster, millionaire publisher of movie magazines, have been married after six hectic years during which Brewster struggled to make the former cigarette girl his wife and a movie queen at one and the same time.

Brewster made her his wife despite obstacles in the nature of a previous marital bond, but his efforts to make her a movie queen have been futile because it is said Will Hays, master of the movies, objected to sensational reports that placed the Brewster-Palmer romance on the front page.

New Brewster believes these objections have been wiped out by their marriage, which was performed Wednesday in Encinita, Mexico, following a divorce from his first wife, Eleanor Brewster, secured in the Mexican courts.

I understand that Hays ordered companies in his organization not to use Mrs. Brewster on the screen because her name appeared on the front pages of the newspapers," he told the United News.

"With our marriage I expect any objection to be eliminated. I expect the situation to cool off within a year," he said. Mrs. Brewster will be in demand," he said.

Brewster met Miss Palmer in 1920, after she had been singled out as the winner of a beauty contest staged by the pages of his publications. His first wife refused to take the necessary steps to secure a divorce and the romance was frequently aired in the newspapers of the country.

Seeking to star Miss Palmer on the screen, Brewster is alleged to have entered into an agreement with one of the biggest movie companies, whereby the pages of his publication were opened to their publicity in exchange for a contract for Miss Palmer.

Miss Palmer, however, never received a role due to the opposition of Hays. Instead she was "farmed

PLAN IS OFFERED ON NEW BUILDING FOR RAILROAD 'Y'

A proposal by which the Railroad Y. M. C. A. may obtain a new building was offered a committee from the Y. M. C. A. by Alfred Turett and Horace Russell, it was announced after an enthusiastic meeting Friday night.

Details of the plan were not made known but it was referred to the building committee to investigate and report at the next meeting of the committee of management.

The meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. and followed a luncheon. Representatives from most of the transportation interests were present. The Railroad Y. M. C. A. is now engaged in a membership campaign which will continue through November 8.

would you think it impertinent for us to inquire as to the amount of his income, and as to how much rent he pays, and as to whether he owns his house? I say, what are the dependents he has? We think you would agree with us that when a man asks the public to support his dependents, we have a right to that

Consider it from another angle. Suppose you were in our position, charged with the responsibility of making sure that the public funds a man asks you to pay nearly $300 a year to support children for whose support you are not responsible. Would you feel justified in paying from the public funds in your charge $500 a year for perhaps

Coolidge Says Northampton Convict Guard Ends Own Life

P. S. Brooks, night guard at the South Fulton County convict camp, ended his own life shortly after 8 o'clock Friday night by sending a returning home next Tuesday to vote for Senator Butler, republican, of Massachusetts, President Coolidge today made it clear that he still retains a residence in Massachusetts.

He pointed out in a somewhat humorous way that he had been shot by a pistol bullet into his heart, according to Fulton county officials at the convict camp where the shooting occurred.

Brooks had been in one of the buildings talking with two of his fellow guards. Leaving them, he walked be-porous vein that some misunderstanding evidently has arisen over the question of where the party was held. The fact that when reached Northampton, he would visit the home of Mrs. Goodhue, his mother-in-law.

"The party was made him a little painful," he explained, with a smile. "The house in which Mrs. Goodhue lived was a very small one."

DETROIT, Mich., October 29. — (AP) — Jerry Houdini, oneclated on recently a appendicitis, suffered a relapse to his physicians tonight, reported his condition as low, with poisoning from ruptured peritonitis which has developed, spreading generally through his system.

The crisis is expected within the next 24 to 36 hours. Contrary to the usual form of physicians' bulletin,

A second operation was performed tonight in an attempt to check paralysis of the bowels which developed after the relapse. Houdini apparently failed to react favorably, a bulletin issued by his physicians stating his condition was "less favorable than before the operation."

Petrels and Furman Clash at Spiller's Field Today

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL BEATS BOYS' HIGH, SCORE 38 TO 7

Cadets Beat Decatur Tech Smithies Lose; Marist Is Victorious

Each University Touchdown Follows Long Marches Down Field—Hunsinger Stages His Best Football Exhibition of This Season.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL, making its first appearance against a local prep team in two years, smashed its way to a 38-to-7 victory over Boys' High at Spiller's field yesterday afternoon before a crowd of 2,000 people.

John Hunsinger, fleet halfback, and McHenry, hiterto unsummed quantity, were the factors in the Bluebirds' rout of the Purple. Time after time this pair smashed through center, off tackle, and around end for long gains.

Each University touchdown came as the result of long marches down the field, and the work of the entire Bluebird team was largely responsible for the gains of McHenry and Hunsinger.

Boys' High scored its goal on a fumble. McHenry, of University, was back to punt, on his 35-yard line. He stood too far back, and the ball was low. Several Purple linemen hit him and knocked the ball out of his hands. In the scramble for the ball, Sam Fincher's foot came in contact with it, and the ball went across University's goal, Smith, Boys' High, falling on it for a touchdown. Turner kicked goal.

Hunsinger played his best game of the season yesterday, and Boys' High was able to stop him only once. He bucked the line and swept the ends, and on defense his tackling was hard and sure. McHenry also was in the limelight a great part of the time, and made a good running mate for Hunsinger. He was on the throwing end of a 20-yard pass to Freeman, which netted a touchdown in the third quarter.

Ditty Murray, Bluebird captain and center, played a steady game, not making a single bad pass. The work of Coursey and Sparks at guard was a big factor in the U. S. B. victory. Sam Colvin, who made such a brilliant showing against G. M. A. last Friday, failed to come up to standard yesterday.

University had the Purple's aerial attack completely stopped yesterday. Boys' High attempted nine passes and University intercepted six of them, the other three being incomplete. The Bluebirds outplayed Boys' High in every department of the game, and it was hard fought and cleanly played throughout. University piled up a total of 18 first downs against two for Boys' High.

Touchdowns were made by the Bluebirds in every quarter. Boys' High made its tally in the second period.

TECH HIGH LOSES
TO LANIER, 21-7.

BY GORDON ALLEN.

Marion, Ga., October 29.—Lanier history was made yesterday when a brilliant post eleven accomplished a feat no other Lanier team has ever been able to do. Playing in their last form of the season they added the most prized scalp of the season to their belts, taking the Tech High team from Atlanta into camp to the tune of 21 to 7.

Some 2,000 fans, 200 or so from Atlanta, witnessed the game that would have done justice to a great many college contests. The Tech team failed to show the speed it was expected to, and had it not been for the great work of Quarterback Waugh the visitors would very probably have been whitewashed. Just after the fourth quarter started Waugh got away round right end and sprinted through the entire Lanier team for 60 yards and a touchdown. Waugh kicked goal for the extra point.

In the third quarter Waugh came near getting a touchdown. Lanier kicked off and Waugh caught the ball for a 35-yard run. He cleared the whole Lanier team with the exception of Tommy Moran, Captain Smith, Malcolm Burgess, Brewer Corbin and Charlie Burgess stood out above their teammates. The eccentric little center, who persists in wearing a baseball cap in all his games, was in practically every play. He never failed to stop any opponents that came his way.

Tommy Moran's spectacular left end run netted the Tech's first touchdown. After the team had taken the lead with a safety by Captain Smith, Moran went over the Tech goal line like a streak of well oiled lightning, carrying the ball 12 yards. Smith kicked the goal, which was the only one made by Lanier. One was blocked by Tech. Lanier's attack failed to get the ball in place in time.

The Tech line held at all times and Brewer Corbin was the only Tech that could make any gains through that wall at all. The Post line held equally as well, although they were outweighed several pounds. Each team tried a number of forward passes and the attempts were generally unsuccessful. The Techsters completed but one in five attempts while Lanier completed two in six. The last touchdown for Lanier, a minute before the game ended, came with a perfect pass over the goal line, Corbin to Smith. Captain Smith had just recovered the ball when a Tech back fumbled.

G. M. A. CADETS DEFEAT DECATUR.

The G. M. A. Cadets won their first prep game of the season from Decatur Friday afternoon, winning by the score of 20 to 0. Campbell, driving Cadet fullback, was the best star for G. M. A. G. M. A. started off with a rush, making a score in the first five minutes of play. Many trick plays and forward passes were pulled off by the Cadets, and kept Decatur somewhat bewildered during the game.

The DeKalb county boys put up a game fight, however, and held G. M. A. several times. Mullins, Decatur left tackle, was a big factor in the line's ability to hold the Cadets.

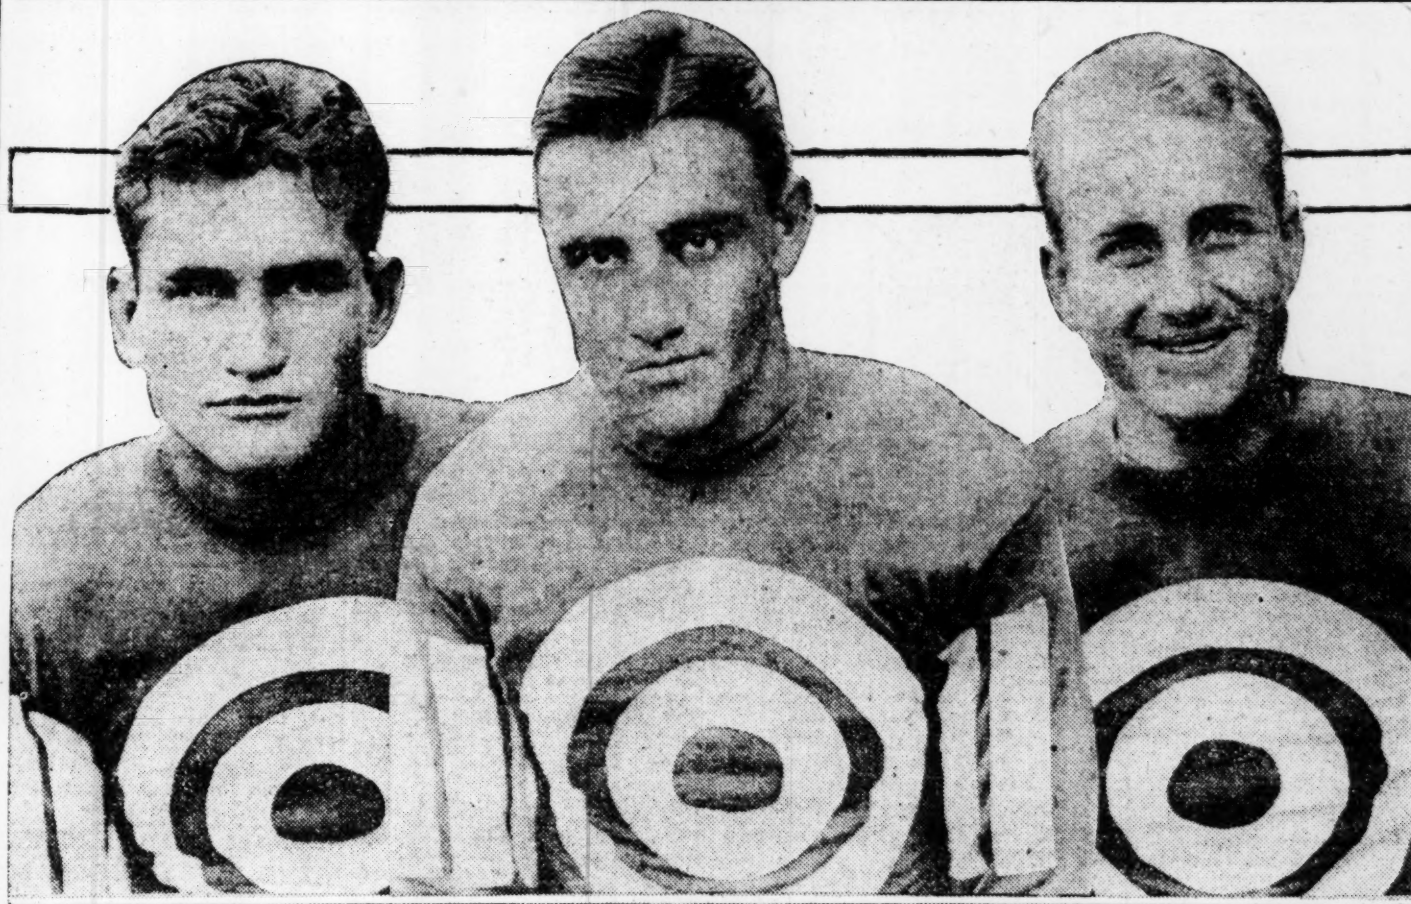

G. M. A.'s first score came when a Cadet recovered a punt fumbled by Decatur on its own 9-yard line. Scorer took the ball over for a touchdown in three plays.

Campbell scored the other two touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters, as a result of his hard driving, and each score was made after a long march down the field.

MEET PETRELS TODAY

No, these gentlemen are not animated archery targets. They are football players, and in a way are partly responsible for the purple aggregation from Furman being called a hurricane. They are, on the right, Boob Pipkin, the remarkable fullback; next, Troy Thomas, captain and center, and left Whitey Rawl, quarterback. All of them were with the Furman aggregation when they trounced the Georgia Bulldogs recently, and will see service against Oglethorpe today.

BABY GATORS BATTLE TECH FROSH TODAY

The freshmen of the University of Florida and those of Georgia Tech will clash this afternoon at Grant field at 2 o'clock in a game that will have a bearing on the freshmen title of the south.

The Baby Gators, whose varsity brethren do battle to Georgia, at Athens this afternoon, arrived in Atlanta Friday and Friday afternoon staged a light workout on the field where tomorrow they will meet the Techster juniors.

Stumpy Thomason will perform in the battle this afternoon, and if his exhibition of football is as good as others in the past he is sure to be a stellar performer in the melee.

Both institutions have developed strong elevens among the frosh, and both are eyeing rather seriously the southern championship among college freshmen elevens. Neither has suffered defeat this year.

Officials: Referee, Mosley; umpire, A. Sammons; head linesman, Clements. All of the officials from MARIST WINS 12-0 OVER CLARKESVILLE.

Marist drove a 12-to-0 victory over Clarksville A. & M. on the Marist campus Friday afternoon.

Martin, Brooks and Lanford were outstanding for Marist in the backfield. Martin made many good gains, and Brooks was smashing the line with his usual drive. Lanford scored one of the Cadet touchdowns after a march down the field had placed the ball on Clarksville's 15-yard line. Lanford carried the ball over on a criss-cross.

The other Marist touchdown came as the result of a blocked punt. Dafter falling on the ball behind Clarksville's goal line. Clarksville held Marist at one time with the ball on their own 1-yard line, with Marist having four downs to make goal.

Rockne in Bad Shape; Only 80 Men Available

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

South Bend, Ind., October 29.—Notre Dame's football players were so badly banged in the battle with Northwestern last Saturday that Coach Rockne will not have more than 75 or 80 men in good condition for the combat tomorrow with Georgia Tech.

It was almost pitiful to see the wounded limping about the campus and the practice field this afternoon when the final drill was staged before tackling the gentlemen of the south. An effort undoubtedly was made to suppress this condition of affairs, as it would perhaps inspire great hope in the Georgians if they knew that Rockne was so badly handicapped. Today he had only seven varsity elevens in the drill, barely enough men, it is estimated, to get through the first half. After that he may have to call on the boys of the boarding halls and the boys who peel potatoes in the kitchen.

The names of all the wounded cannot be had for publication because it is the custom at this institution to utter no squawk when a man is knocked out. He is supposed to swallow it and get even the next time. However, it was noticed that Captain Edwards, one of the two captains, was unable to take part in the drill in one of his legs was twisted so badly that his foot on that leg still points east and west when he's looking north and south.

There was another big prominent lineman walking around and congratulating himself that he was able to find his left ear after one of the scrimmages against the Purple. He has it pasted on the side of his head again and held there securely, with tape. Little Mr. Neimee, the newest thundering halfback, wasn't so fortunate. He lost two teeth somewhere in the game and was unable to find them before leaving. He is offering a substantial reward to anyone who will or may find them and return them to him and thinks maybe Moon Baker is carrying them around in his vest pocket.

Mr. Rockne does not know how to figure things out, and he is not. Alexander, of the Georgians, is assisted this year by Don Miller, one of the four horsemen of Notre Dame two years ago and this report is that the southerners are playing a forward passing game with great expertness.

LaGrange Extends Football Victories

LaGrange, Ga., October 29.—LaGrange High waded through Marietta High here this afternoon for a 33 to 7 victory.

The Marietta defense held the local team to two touchdowns in the first half but weakened under a powerful offensive attack in the final half.

Marietta scored their only touchdown immediately after the third period started, when a pass from Reid was caught over the goal line by Orr. Dolden, local halfback, featured the game with an 80-yard return of a kick-off for a touchdown.

Hammett and Beaton also starred in the local's backfield. Cleveland Powers and Mills starred in the local's backfield. Cleveland Powers and Mills starred in the line. Orr and Griggs starred for the visitors.

By virtue of this afternoon's victory, LaGrange has won 27 consecutive high school games.

Sweet Potato, Grown by Negro, Weighs 15 1-2 Pounds

Forsyth, Ga., October 29.—(Special.)—While different parts of the country are naming their champion potato growers, Forsyth now presents her champion in Jim Evans, negro gardener and all-around handy man for the white folks about town. Evans set out 150 hills of the Porto Rico variety, bought of a local seed store, and prepared the land and worked his potatoes with a common grubbing hoe.

He dug under a hill which produced a single potato and brought it to town and had it weighed. It weighed the scales at 15 1-2 pounds. As a bushel of potatoes weighs 56 pounds, four potatoes of this size would make over a bushel. This potato was grown on ordinary land within the city limits, which has been cultivated probably over a 100 years.

WADE READY FOR BATTLE WITH L. S. U.

Tusculooza, Ala., October 29.—(AP.)

The University of Alabama's undefeated football team tonight was pronounced ready to meet the invading Louisiana State university eleven tomorrow at Denny field in the feature event of homecoming day for University alumni. More than 10,000 fans will attend the game, officials predicted tonight.

The Crimson Tide will enter tomorrow's game as the favorite, although the invaders hold a 10 to 0 verdict over Alabama Polytechnic.

Both squads worked out here today, the visiting team running through a light drill before noon and the tide using the practice field during the afternoon. Both teams appeared to be in excellent condition, Alabama having only one man missing from the regular line-up and L. S. U. boasting a squad with ranks not depleted by injuries.

Perfection of the Alabama aerial attack has occupied most of the week for Coach Wallace Wade and his Crismons. Blocking and tackling were stressed, with the sound showing improvement over the ability displayed in the game with Sewanee. Coach Mike Donohue is expected to offer an exceptional line in tomorrow's game and fans tonight predicted that the Tide would have to attack through the air.

The probable starting line-ups were announced tonight as follows:

ALABAMA Pos. L. S. U.
Winstell..... Durrett
Pickard..... Tinsley
Pearce..... Rabers
Holmes..... Morgan
Hagler..... Wilson
Hyer..... McCall
Barnes..... Mason
Caldwell..... Godfrey
Brown..... Haynes

Rome High School Beats Cedartown

Cedartown, October 29.—(Special.) Rome High school defeated Cedartown High school here today, 6 to 0. It was one of the hardest fought games ever played here. R. H. S. touchdowns came in the first quarter.

C. H. S. found it hard to pierce the heavier line. For Rome, Gadsden Horton and Smith starred. Lott and Simmonville starred in the line for C. H. S., while Wyatt and Sutton showed up in the back line.

Soccer Practice To Be Held Today

Local soccer players are urged to attend the practice to be held at Piedmont park on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Many players have been coming out each week for the practices and a much larger crowd is expected out this afternoon.

Arrangements have been completed for a game at Fort McPherson to be played Sunday afternoon at the Fort and everyone interested is requested to be out for practice so as to get in

Battle Scheduled Most Important In S. I. A. A. Loop

Garlington Will Play With Special Headgear to Protect Broken Nose—Cy Bell May See Service—Furman Hurricane Arrives This Morning.

BY ALTON REDFEARN.

THE Oglethorpe Petrels and the Purple Hurricane of Furman—two outstanding S. I. A. A. elevens—will lock horns this afternoon on Spiller's field at 2 o'clock in what is expected to be the most important game in S. I. A. A. circles.

Advance dope indicates that it will be an unusually hard fought game, for the winner, without a doubt, will be well on the way toward the association title. Hence both elevens will take the field determined to win. It will be a Stormy Petrel attempting to overcome the mighty blasts of the Purple Hurricane and vice versa.

YOSTMEN-NAVY TILT FEATURES EAST PROGRAM

BY FRANK GETTY.

New York, October 29.—Sweeping down against the thin blue line of the navy at Baltimore stadium with all the confidence born of a championship and the memories of overwhelming victory a year ago, "Hurry Up" Yost's powerful team is out to restore the prestige of the west in intercollegiate football.

The Michigan-Navy game, which will be witnessed by nearly 80,000 spectators at Baltimore, is the most important of seven intercollegiate games which will be featured on the gridiron sport on Saturday.

Nine unbeaten teams go into action in this section, while only Pennsylvania, probable champions of the east, will be absent. The Quakers, although threatened with the loss of the services of Charley Rogers, the great Red and Blue back, will be favored to win the game, which will be the other big intercollegiate contest.

There is a well-defined feeling in football circles that Yale, beaten last week by Brown, will turn around and beat the Army at the bowl in New Haven on Saturday. The Cadets have not yet tasted defeat this season. On the other hand, they never have won a game on Yale soil.

The Brown-Dartmouth game is of unusual interest this year. There is talk of a third straight defeat for Jess Hawley's team, although the Green has a penchant for winning at Hanover, and it is possible that last Saturday's victory over Yale took a lot out of the Bruinians. The absence of Eddie Dooley may not detract as much as some believe from Dartmouth's strength, and if Brown is made the favorite, the Green will be an excellent short-end bet.

Cornell vs. Columbia.

Cornell, with an unbeaten but an untested team, descends upon Columbia, an easy victim. New York university, with one of the best teams in the east, is expected to triumph over Fordham and keep the Violet slate clean.

Harvard and Princeton are taking a day off, with easy contests which will merely serve to tune up the two elevens for their clash at Cambridge a week hence. The Tigers take on little Swarthmore, which was smothered 44 to 0 by Penn, while Harvard will demonstrate a further extension of the Horwien system against Tufts.

Two powerful and unbeaten elevens which meet Saturday are those of Lafayette and Washington and Jefferson, and for sheer hard fighting and evenly balanced power of attack and defense, the game probably will be without an equal in the east.

Riverside Beats Gordon Institute

Barnesville, Ga., October 29.—(Special.)—Riverside defeated Gordon Institute at Barnesville, 15 to 7, in the hardest fought game of the season. The first half ended 0 and 0 with the ball in midfield. In the third quarter two brilliant runs by Priester, for Gordon, and a final plunge by Matt Gadsden for Riverside, the first blood of the game. Gordon kicked goal.

A let-up by Gordon in the last eight minutes of play gave Riverside two touchdowns and the game, Riverside's backfield, led by Captain Priester, played best for Riverside. Riverside's line was very weak at times. In Gordon's backfield Matt, at quarter, and Priester, at half, played best. In the line for Gordon Gibson and Walter played best.

Black Butterflies

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.
David Proposes Divorce.

When the hotel's manager excitedly telephoned David about the outbursts of the Butterflies, he tried to mollify him. "Our friends are merely giving vent to their high spirits. Sit tight and they will be gone by Monday. Of course we'll pay for what breakage you speak of."

To Dr. Parker and the nurse, both scandalized by the reports that were reaching them, he administered the same soothing reminder. "They're young and a bit gay, and they're just bound to break loose after they leave the hospital at night," he pointed out. "But you must admit they act pretty well while they're here."

The point was well taken, and it helped David in his patient efforts to avoid the final catastrophe of the Butterflies' expulsion from the hotel. It was true that the first appearance of Mrs. Goddard's three friends had not been reassuring to the hospital authorities. But when they had gone to the hotel for baths and dinner, and had later returned in immaculate evening clothes and with the engaging youthful charm they could all assume at will, there was a reaction in their favor. The next morning—Saturday—with Parker's permission, Dorinda telephoned to a local music house and rented a small upright piano, which was delivered before noon; and from 2 o'clock on Miss Perkins held the hospital staff, and such patients as could hear her, in the hollows of her beautiful hands. Even Goddard presented himself on Dorinda's threshold when the recital began, wearing a determined smile. Patients in private rooms up and down the length of the main corridor left their doors open that no note might escape them, and Dr. Parker, who really loved and appreciated good music, sat spellbound for an hour while sufferers both in and out of the hospital vainly waited for him.

"Why, the girl plays better than any professional pianist I've ever heard," he told David, while Kitty was throwing her gorgeous splashes of color over Balakireff's Islamey. "By jove, she plays all the way up and down one's spine. I don't know when I've been so impressed by music. Who is she, anyway?"

"Just an amateur—but a genius, of course. She could be at the top if she wanted to, but she won't play in public."

"Why not? Stage fright?"

"Nothing like it. I fancy Kitty Perkins isn't afraid of anything. It's merely a notion of hers, but she lives up to it. Isn't willing to play for money. Thinks playing for any one but her friends would be a prostitution of her art."

Suddenly, and to his surprise, David realized that he was speaking of Kitty with the complacent pride of an admiring intimate. Put into his own words, what Dorinda had told him of Kitty's attitude

"It will be easy enough for you," she said. "You'll go your pious way, toward her music struck him as rather fine—a mistaken notion, of course, and one he did not bear analyses, but a big conception if looked at from a certain angle.

Parker, however, revealed an unexpected flash of insight. "I don't believe she feels equal to the task," he muttered, fixing on Kitty a suddenly professional eye. "The life of a concert pianist is a hard one, and I doubt if she's up to it. In fact, all your friends look pretty soft to me," he added frankly as he rose at last to hasten to his waiting patients.

David admitted that Kitty's playing and her soft, throaty contralto singing won tolerance for the Butterflies both at the hospital and in the hotel.

If you could get that girl away from those two fellows you could make something worth while of her," he told Dorinda Saturday evening, under the influence of a Brahms intermezzo.

She smiled mockingly.

"You've just got to shape other people's lives for them, haven't you, David?" she murmured. The brief exchange of thought was the first they had indulged in since the candid discussion of Friday. He flushed under her tone, but answered quietly.

"If I saw someone tied to a railroad track I'd have an impulse to get him away from it before a train came along."

"I don't think Chad and Jim have ever been called a railroad track before," Dorinda retorted. "Of course, I've been called almost everything else. I must tell them about this."

She was impossible and he let it go at that, lending himself to Kitty and Brahms with an apparent concentration that soon became real. His sense of justice, which was strong, made him increasingly recognize the Butterflies' successful effort at good behavior during the hours on duty in the hospital. Kitty played to her friend many hours a day, both Saturday and Sunday, as Dorinda never tired of hearing her. Having planned bridge, the Butterflies made the game five hundred, that David might join the circle. Jim, who read aloud with the art of an Otis Skinner, read to Dorinda till his throat ached. Chad's irrepressible good spirits subtly infected them all. Indeed, as comforters of the sick there was no question that the Black Butterflies were making good, though they smoked till the room was blue, carpeted the floor with newspapers, magazines, and cigarette stubs, and wallowed in turn on Dorinda's bed till the nurse protested that she could not continue to make it up a dozen times a day.

But the nights! After Friday night David could not sleep, wondering in what particular fashion Dorinda's guests were breaking forth. His second private conversation with her, which took place on Sunday, did not calm his spirits.

"Didn't I hear you answering some complaints from the hotel this morning?" she abruptly demanded when he entered her room to make polite inquiry as to her progress. Formal courtesy was their note when they were alone together, as now, though when others were around both still endeavored to convey the impression of a warmer relationship than this would imply.

"Yes."

"What had they been doing?"

"Having a Saturday night spree at the hotel, with the riff-raff of the town as their guests."

She frowned—but less over the Butterflies' behavior, he knew, than over his way of describing it.

"I wish the hotel management would make their complaints to me, and not to you," she snapped.

"Why should they?"

"Because I'm responsible."

"They can't be expected to know that," he pointed out.

"No, but I ought to have foreseen it myself, before we went into this idiotic experiment."

He had been standing before her, as she sat in a wheel chair by the window. Now he swung a small chair into position and sat down facing her.

"Dorinda," he said seriously, "I hate to be a quitter, but I've reached the point where I feel just as you do about this business. It was a crazy experiment, and the sooner we end it the better. I simply want to say that when we get back to Grandon I will help you to get out of it. It will be a nasty mess, and there's bound to be a lot of publicity. But let's keep a stiff upper lip and go through with it. If we do it at once people will think it was just another impulsive escapade."

"Of mine," she interrupted.

"Of ours," he corrected. "They certainly won't admire my position any more than they will yours. But they will soon forget the whole thing."

"O, it will be easy enough for you!" she said. "You'll go your pious way, and the town will say you were lucky to get out of the clutches of a vampire."

"It will be the hardest thing I've ever done in my life," he quietly interrupted. "If you think it won't, change your mind. I'd rather lose an arm than go through with it—but you want it ended, don't you?"

"No, I don't!"

He stared at her.

"You don't?" he stammered.

"No, I don't. It's a devilish mess to be in, but we'll merely be in a more devilish mess if we try to get out of it."

HALLOWEEN BALL BRILLIANT EVENT AT DRIVING CLUB

Debutantes Are the Center Of Attraction at Lovely Ball

The annual Halloween ball given at the Piedmont Driving club Friday evening was an outstanding social event at which over 400 guests assembled to enjoy this occasion and to meet the 1936-37 debutantes, who were seated with their escorts at a special table in the ballroom where dinner was served at 9 o'clock. The driveway leading to the club was decorated with pumpkin-shaped lanterns strung on wires, and the entrance to the building was flanked by two large pumpkins. The main dining room and the ballroom, which have recently been refurnished and newly decorated, were adorned with crystal vases holding crimson roses. The side walls in the dining room were effectively decorated in figures of black cats, skeletons and witches, suggestive of the Halloween season, and vases holding yellow and white chrysanthemums graced the center of the tables and were encircled with silver candlesticks holding yellow candles. The E-shaped debutante table was placed across the east of the ballroom before the fireplace, in which a huge yellow pumpkin was lighted by electric lights. A mound of yellow and white chrysanthemums was the central decoration, alternating with silver candelabra holding yellow candles, and vases holding yellow and white flowers. The yellow menu cards in the shape of hats were printed in black, and the souvenirs for dinner were fancy caps and other appropriate novelties.

Seated at the debutantes' table were members of the 1936-37 Debutante club and their escorts, including Misses Isabelle Breitenbuecher, president; Sarah Hurt, vice president; Henrietta Mikell, secretary; Ann Lane Newell, treasurer; Jennett Bailey, Elizabeth Little, Mary Middleton, Runa Irwin, Clara Bell King, Elizabeth Phillips, Lucile Stone, Martha Maddox, Louise Arnold, Frances Floyd, Sara Smith, Idoline Lewman, Yolande Gwin, Mary Rhorer, Mary McCarty, Rosa Harbin, Mary Jernigan, Virginia Torrance, Helen Barbee, Bessie White, Lullia Johnson, Frances Cooper and Sam Tupper, Ruddy Ellis, Berry Grant, Nesbet Mary, Charles Boynton, Joel Hunter, Francis Gilbert, Edwin Long, Murray Shoun, Smythe Gambrell, Edwin McCarty, John Barnett, Sam Weyman, Tom Hinman, Ernest McCullough, William Scherffus, William Ellis, Edward Van Winkle, Jimmy Dunlap, Howell Foreman, Gus Aschcraft, Jimmy Johnson, Otey Mitchell, John Stewart, Wellborn Cody, Marion Kiser, Norris Broyles, Captain William Granberry, Dan Conkin, Frank Hartley, Edgar Dunlap, John Hopkins, Baxter Maddox, Richard Hull, John Otley, G. B. Strickler, Ernest Kontz, Wylie Arnold, Lowry Nicolson, Howard Smith, Cecil Roosmale, Willard McCubney, Howard Smith, J. L. Templeton, of Nashville, Tenn.; Claude Frederick, Douglas Hearn, Emory Flynn, Inman Knox and Dr. Thomas Greshaw.

Beautiful Gowns. Miss Isabelle Breitenbuecher wore a beautiful gown of white velvet trimmed in rhinestones and crystals. Her flowers were a shoulder spray of orchids. Miss Henrietta Mikell's gown was of white tulle with a trimming of silver lace and rhinestones. She wore a shoulder spray of orchids. Miss Sara Hurt was gowned in green satin effectively trimmed in gold lace. The full skirt had a trimming of the gold lace, and the waist line was finished with green satin ribbon and gold ribbon. She wore a spray of orchids on her left shoulder. Miss Anne Lane Newell was most becomingly gowned in white chiffon worn over a white satin. The full skirt had a large purple violet in an effective fashion, and was also trimmed with rhinestones. Her white slippers were trimmed in brilliant and amethyst, and her flowers were orchids. Miss Jeanette Bailey wore a beautiful gown of white satin elaborately trimmed in gold lace, and a shoulder spray of orchids and valley lilies. Miss Elizabeth Little's gown was of beige chiffon becomingly made and she wore a spray of orchids on her left shoulder. Miss Runa Irwin wore an exquisite gown of white Elizabeth crepe trimmed in rhinestones, pearls and crystals, and her flowers were orchids, worn in a shoulder spray.

Miss Lewman's Gown. Miss Idoline Lewman wore an exquisite imported model of green chiffon the skirt trimmed in silver metal cloth and chiffon petals, while silver metal cloth flowers adorned her left shoulder. She wore orchids and valley lilies.

Miss Martha Maddox was gowned in blue tulle and the skirt fashioned in tiered effect and embroidered in blue bead design. She wore a shoulder bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

G.M.A. Gymnasium Is Opened With Lovely Reception

A brilliant reception, marking the formal opening of the new gymnasium of the Georgia Military academy, was held Friday evening from 8 to 9 o'clock, followed by dancing from 9 to 12 o'clock. The hosts of the lovely occasion were the members of the G. M. A. faculty, and the corps of cadets.

The honor guests of the occasion were the alumni of G. M. A., both local and out-of-town. In addition to the alumni, invitations were extended Governor Walker and his staff, General Haygood, commander of the Fourth Area Corps area, and his staff of officers; Professor Willis Sutton, superintendent of city schools; Dr. M. J. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech; Dr. Thorndike Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe; Dr. H. W. Cox, president of Emory university; the judges of the superior and supreme courts, and the patrons and many friends of the school.

The handsome new gymnasium was laborately decorated with quantities of American flags and the national emblems. Masses of palms and ferns were banded in window recesses and on either side of the doorways. Quantities of autumn flowers in the national colors of red, white and blue, added a brilliant note of color to the decorations.

The guests were received by Colonel J. C. Woodward, president of G. M. A.; Mrs. Woodward and members of the faculty.

Punch was served during the evening from large crystal bowls emplaced in mounds of flowers and fruit. The guests included a bevy of young girls from College Park and Washington seminary.

Atlanta Woman's Club Tea Honors Publicity Department

The tea at the Atlanta Woman's club, Friday afternoon, featuring the work of the publicity department of the club, of which Mrs. Benjamin Harvey Hill is chairman, with Mrs. J. T. Floyd, co-chairman, with the representatives of the various branches of the work, was an interesting event, presided over by Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, president of the club. Too much credit cannot be given to Mrs. Price-Smith for the liberal way in which she has featured every department of club life, with their chairman as hostesses at the tea on Friday afternoon, and in this manner bringing in touch people of congenial taste and interests. This policy has been very popular, arousing enthusiasm and giving inspiration to all workers.

Assisting the president of the club, were Mrs. B. H. Hill, Mrs. J. T. Floyd, Mrs. Flora McDaniel Pitts, chairman of pictures, Miss Dorothy Banks, chairman of parties for the Friday afternoon teas, and Mrs. Carpenter Jones, chairman of publicity of the teas. The clubhouse was decorated with Halloween favors, appropriate to the occasion, in charge of Mrs. Brandon. The musical program was arranged by Miss Lillian Smith, and Mrs. Victor Clark, well known artists.

Honor Guests. Guests of honor and those seated at president's table were: Dr. W. F. Melton, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hosmer, Daniel Whitehead Hickey, Miss Blossom Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Ringo, E. Means, S. J. Heider, T. J. Tippler, Miss Dorothy Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Creswell.

Mrs. Oliver Is Hostess. Mrs. James Connor Oliver was hostess at an appreciation tea in the palm room in honor of Dr. Elizabeth Lightfoot Broach, inviting to meet her, the executive body of the Ladies' Bible class of the Druid Hills Methodist church. The table was beautifully decorated with fall flowers, and the mints and place cards carried out the Halloween themes. Those present were: Dr. Elizabeth Lightfoot Broach, Mesdames J. J. Bookout, J. B. Anchors, George Spring, DeWitt Norion, W. P. Yelken, J. W. Starr, J. S. Slappy, T. E. Chastain, Hugh Harris, W. H. Wynne, Willis Dobbs, J. D. Swager, Robert Russell, W. W. Causey, A. G. Maxwell, J. T. Selman, L. J. Hulse, Alfred Burdette, R. L. McCullough, J. A. LaConte and Miss Lillian Browder. Mrs. Benjamin Harvey Hill had as her guests at the president's table, Mrs. Ernest E. Seabrook, Mrs. Lessie McMichael, Mrs. W. D. Sandwich, of Albany, Ga.; B. H. Hill and Mrs. Thomas H. Clower. Mrs. R. M. McFayden entertained two tables of bridge in the sun parlor in honor of Mrs. James W. See, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Willard See. Mrs. S. J. Heider had as her guests, Mrs. R. Donovan, Miss Lyon and Mrs. M. A. Christel. Others entertaining were Mrs. E. W. Quillian, Mrs. H. Ellis and Mrs. Flora McDaniel Pitts.

Frank Freeman, Jr., Will Celebrate Birthday Today

Mrs. Frank Freeman will entertain at a football luncheon today at her home on the Prado, honoring the eleventh birthday of her young son, Frank Freeman, Jr.

The lovely affair will also be in the nature of a Halloween party. The young guests will assemble for luncheon at 1 o'clock, after which they will play football.

Mitchell, Ewcl Gay, Jr., Walter Moor, Jim Moor, George Cantt, Nat Harrison, Arthur Hermon, Grady Clay, Jr., John Copeland, Loyd Brower, Worth Yankey Ott Alston, Jr., Edwin Peoples, Jr., Walter Colquitt, Jr., Sam Smith, Clayton Berry, Forrest Adair IV, Guyton Parks and Frank Freeman.

Druid Hills Presbyterian To Observe 'Visitors' Day.

The Sunday school of the Druid Hills Presbyterian church will observe Sunday as visitors' day. Each member of the Sunday school from the kindergarten through the primary to the men's Bible class is expected to bring as visitor some person who has not been accustomed to going to Sunday school.

This phase of the Sunday school is being sponsored by the Parent-Teacher association of the church, of which Mrs. W. T. Asher is president. The association is also sponsoring the newly organized teacher training class, which begins Sunday, November 7, and will meet each Sunday morning. An invitation is extended to any person interested in the work to become a member of the class.

Church Auxiliary To Meet Monday.

A study of the home mission program of the church will be the theme of the woman's auxiliary of the Druid Hills Presbyterian church at the meeting to be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church. Mrs. Frank W. Smith, a well-informed and attractive speaker, will present this phase of the church work. Mrs. J. A. Craig, the president, will preside.

"The Store all Women Know"

Dress Coats Show the Smartness of Fur

Platinum Wolf $79.50 Pointed Fox
Black Wolf Squirrel
Platinum Fox French Beaver

The time has come when you must select a new coat. It is not to be put off any longer. Now the question is, what kind of coat shall it be? The factor of major importance in deciding its smartness is the fur. Fur it must have in plenty, good fur—and these coats at $79.50 have it. Fur on the collars, the cuffs, deep shawl collars of fur, full length fur stoles, and some even have fur pockets. No one can deny their smartness, or their beauty. Materials are Venise, Juilpoint, Pinpoint, Carmania, Monte Bello, Velcheen and Lustria. The furs are the season's most wanted.

Caracul $95.00 Australian
Beaver Opossum
Mountain Mink Pointed Fox
Gray Squirrel Dyed Squirrel

It's a delight to choose from the coats in this group—such wide variety is offered and the coats are of such soft, fine fabrics, the furs so rich and so plentifully used. Venise, Rouvelaine, Kashmirella and Luella are the materials. They're fashioned in straight, slender lines with shawl collars, with blouses, with full length stoles. And there is every smart new shade to be found. They're beautiful coats!

Business Women Choose Sports Coats

$29.50 to $65

The up-to-date business woman is well informed. None knows better than she what the mode is. She keeps up. But she never follows a style blindly. She has a great fund of common sense and she uses it. For instance, she insists that her coat be smart, but she is equally as firm about its wearing qualities. And what does she choose? Glance at the street cars in the morning and evening and the downtown tea shops in the middle of the day... they tell the tale. The unanimous choice for smartness and service is the sports coat.

Of Plaids Of Heather Platinum Fox
Of Checks Mixtures Black Wolf
Of Novelty Kit Fox Beaver
Weaves Pointed Fox Dyed Squirrel
Platinum Wolf Gray Squirrel

Not only is the sports coat the favorite of the business woman, but of every woman who wants a coat that will give incomparable wear and look good every minute of its life. You see these sports coats motoring, shopping, going to school and at the country clubs.

Low Prices and Distinctive Furniture Draw Many Buyers To Stephen Philibosian, Inc.

Beautiful Store Growing in Popularity Among People Who Appreciate Real Value in Home Furnishings.

Hardly a day passes but what there are a number of out-of-town people who make a special trip to Atlanta for the purpose of visiting the beautiful store of Stephen Philibosian, Inc., and making purchases there of furniture and home furnishings.

The distinctive furniture on display and the amazingly low prices, due to the firm's policy of selling only for cash, has spread the name and fame of Stephen Philibosian, Inc. to many parts of the south and not only is this firm's business growing among Atlanta people, but the out-of-town trade is also showing a most encouraging increase.

Recently a prominent citizen of Chattanooga, with his wife, visited this store and made extensive purchases of furnishings for a new home.

Both he and his wife declared they did not know such a beautiful furniture store existed in the south and they were even more amazed at the low prices marked on merchandise that ordinarily brings a fancy price.

Anyone who visits this store is first impressed by the unusual furniture, the artistic designs on display, as well as the huge stock of fine oriental rugs. One gets the impression upon first inspection that here is a store whose merchandise is sold only to the wealthy; that certainly such furniture is prohibitive to the popular people.

Investigation, however, reveals the fact that due to the firm's policy of selling only for cash they have eliminated such a big part of the usual expense of operating a store that they are able to sell such furniture at prices that are well within the reach of the average family.

"Due to our location in a fashionable section of Peachtree street, and the distinctive appearance of our merchandise, a great many people have the impression that here is a store selling only exclusive merchandise, such is not the case," said Stephen Philibosian in discussing this angle of his business.

The big difference lies in the fact that this is the only large furniture store in the entire country that does a strictly cash business. Regardless of race, color or creed, rich or poor, everyone pays cash for merchandise bought at Stephen Philibosian, Inc., and because of this policy the firm operates without a book-keeping department; they operate without a big loss annually in bad accounts; they escape heavy interest charges incident to the operation of a term store, and all these savings are passed along to the customer in lower prices on merchandise.

Anyone who doubts that this is true need only to go through this big store and see the prices that are marked in plain figures on each of the many distinctive pieces of furniture on display.

Another unusual feature of this store is the fact that they never conduct a special sale. When new merchandise is received it is marked at a price as low as it can be sold and there is never a price concession from this marking.

With such a policy it stands to reason the merchandise must be marked low in the beginning in order to keep it moving.

Anyone contemplating the purchase of rugs, furniture or draperies will do well to visit this magnificent store and make a thorough investigation of the quality of their merchandise and their low prices before buying. (Advertisement.)

Muskrat Fur Coats Women's Silk Frocks

$175.00

Agnes Scott College News Is of Interest

Miss Florence Elder, of Chicago, as recently arrived at Agnes Scott to fill the place of Miss Coma Cole in the history department. Miss Elder received the degree of Bachelor of Arts and master of arts from the University of Chicago, and now has almost completed the work for her Ph.D. For the past two years she has been studying in Europe.

The Poetry club at Agnes Scott, of which Miss Elizabeth Lilly, of Winston-Salem, N. C., is president, held its annual meeting recently for the purpose of selecting new members. The following were elected: Misses Marion Greene, Virginia Sevier, Helen Lewis, Miriam Arrington, Lillian Thomas, of Decatur, Ga.

Miss Janet Preston, of the English department, is working as advisor of the poetry club during the absence of Miss Emma May Laney and Miss Margaret Bland, former advisors, who are on leave of absence for the term, 1926-1927.

The gymnasium of Agnes Scott was the scene of a masquerade ball on October 23, given by the senior class. Music was furnished by Mary Heller's "Giltmore orchestra." The entertainment was divided into two parts—the first, a scene in a Parisian cabaret, and the second, a graveyard pantomime. An apache dance was given by Emily Erick and Virginia Sevier. Prizes for the best costumes were awarded Sarah Robinson and Edith McGranahan.

The members of the art class met on October 19 and organized an art club, the purpose of which is to promote the interest of art among the student body. The officers of the club are Miss Leone Bowers, president; Miss Myra Jervay, vice president; and Miss Loretta Morgan, secretary. Various committees were also appointed. The members of the art class take up the character of members of the club. This club is under the direction of Miss Louise Lewis, the art instructor.

'One Exciting Night' To Be Presented At Howard Matinee

The Saturday morning matinee at the Howard theater at 9:30 o'clock will present "One Exciting Night," a Griffin spectacle, and the stage setting will be in keeping with Halloween suggestions.

Mrs. Newton C. Wing, matinee chairman, announces that the picture is preceded by the prologue and the award of the prize Halloween costume. Admission is 10 cents for juniors and 25 cents for adults.

Mrs. Charles C. Harding has arranged the prologue and Miss Virginia Senon will lead the march of sprites and witches.

Chaperones to care for the children who come unaccompanied by their parents or nurses have been provided by the matinee committee and will be in charge of Mrs. John G. Courtney, chaperon chairman. Boy and Girl Scouts will assist as ushers, and the following committee of letter films members: Mesdames Frank Cowart, representing Georgia Avenue school; George E. Clements, from Forrest Avenue P.T.A.; Raymond Goff, from Grant Park P.T.A.; A. C. Kinsey, Calhoun school; M. Rolleston, from Peachtree Heights school; Ernest Brown, Stanton school, and H. J. Couch, Stewart Avenue P.T.A.

FUN AND DANCING FEATURE MIDNIGHT FROLIC PROGRAM

BY ROY WHITE.

With an all-star cast of comedians, dancers and chorus; two of the best singers on the colored stage today, and an eleven piece jazz orchestra that is mighty hard to beat, the "Charleston Dandies" proved to be one of the best-balanced colored shows ever presented to an Atlanta crowd at St. Decatur street on Friday night in the big midnight frolic for white persons only. It was the second of the season, and certainly made a hit.

Beginning with several of the latest jazz pieces played by the Maryland Rhythm, one of the best colored jazz orchestras in the country who came here direct from the Green Cat club in New York, the show was one continuous riot of fun and frolic until the early hours of Saturday morning and only the lateness of the night or earliness of the Saturday prevented a repetition of many of the parts.

In Roseau Montella and Skeeter Winston, Charleston Dandies offered two negro comedians of the first water who kept a packed audience in an uproar all the while they were on stage. Their lines are chuck full of wit and sparkling humor. They were called on the stage time after time and finally after they had exhausted themselves, they were forced to call it a night.

As an outstanding feature, the show offered no particular one, but taken as a whole, it was one of the best, and Manager Tom Bailey is to be congratulated for securing such good midnight frolics.

G. M. A. GYMNASIUM IS OPENED FRIDAY WITH CEREMONIES

Honoring particularly the alumni of the institution, the Georgia Military Academy formally opened its new gymnasium Friday night with the largest reception ever held on its campus. From 8 to 9 o'clock the academy was host at a general reception, Colonel J. C. Woodward, president and founder of G. M. A., and members of the faculty being in the receiving line. At 9 o'clock the dance program was inaugurated by a grand march of the cadets led by company A, of which Cadet Dan Gilmer, of Lavonia, is captain. Sixteen dances were on the program. Music was provided by the Paul Cathcart orchestra of Atlanta. The G. M. A. band rendered several march numbers.

The building was amply lighted by standard gymnasium lights with projectors. The building is provided with a heating arrangement which will keep it at the proper temperature even in the coldest weather.

The finish of the structure throughout is unusually fine for a gymnasium. Floors are hardwood throughout. Large windows along both sides provide plenty of daylight and regulate ventilation. The building is 145 feet long, 43 feet wide, and 29 feet high, and is said to be the largest among southern preparatory schools. In addition to the local and out-of-town alumni, many prominent Atlantans and patrons and friends of the academy were present.

Paris decrees ostrich. It is so charmingly alluring that I do not wonder the great couturiers have gone slightly mad about it. And yesterday at Davison's I sketched for you a lovely frock of black chiffon lavishly trimmed with this intriguing feather. The waist blouses slightly above a soft crushed girdle, and the skirt takes all manner of clever drapings unto itself and edges them all with ostrich. Very important in the mode, and especially in the evening mode, is the uneven hem; and I have mentioned before the smartness of black, and the importance of chiffon. KAY.

SIGMA DELTA KAPPA ENTERTAINS PLEDGES

day afternoon made a survey of the needs of the system with a view of allocating the second $1,000,000 for school purposes.

The committee did not come to any definite decision regarding projects to be sponsored in administration of the second installment on the $3,500,000 school allocation from bonds, but is expected to submit recommendations after a thorough study of the system.

The Sigma Delta Kappa fraternity of the Atlanta Law school, entertained in honor of its pledges at an informal smoker, Friday night, at the Daffodil Tea Room.

Judge Has Mercy And Erring Boy Is Given Chance

BY BEN COOPER.

Dark, formal depths of the United States district court room, in whose echoes mahogany precincts powerful dramas have been enacted and sad tales told, Friday witnessed an act on the part of Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley that bore evidence of the compassion that is one of the mightiest sentiments moving within human breasts.

Terrified by the quiet manner in which the machinery of justice slowly enfolded him on a charge of pilfering from the mail, from which he secured only a few pitiful pennies, a 16-year-old boy stood before Judge Sibley to receive the sentence for the offense of which a jury had found him guilty.

There was no escape, it seemed. And as Judge Sibley looked down at the youth, too old for the juvenile home and not a man in years or experience, that minute was like a year to the boy, whose heart stood still in fear.

In the brief period he peered into the frightened eyes of the boy, Judge Sibley read something of the lad's soul, seeing a mute appeal for another chance, a promise to go straight, in the eyes which faced him. Judge Sibley spoke and his words were these: "You shall have another chance. Sentence is suspended."

Scarcely realizing that he was a free man but with his shoulders squared to meet a world unafraid in the newer opportunity offered him by a man who could have shut him within prison walls and taken the better part of his life, the youth left the court room. The district attorney, whose job it is to prosecute all law violators to the last ditch, then proved that he also had the element of compassion and pity in his make-up, for he said to a newspaper man: "Please don't use his name. The judge has given him a chance, and the least we can do is to help him take advantage of it."

The newspaper man, realizing that compassion plays a part also in the life of the daily press, nodded assent.

FURMAN ALUMNI MEET HERE TODAY

The Georgia chapter of the Furman Alumni association will sponsor a luncheon to be given today at 12 o'clock at the Henry Grady hotel.

The meeting will be attended by a large number of visitors and Furman supporters who will be here to attend the Furman-Oglethorpe game. A special train is expected to arrive this morning and the local alumni are planning the day to assist in entertaining these visitors.

AUTO REGISTRATION SYSTEM IS CHANGED

A new system of automobile registration in Georgia, which has just been adopted by the secretary of state, will save the state approximately $7,000 annually, it was announced Friday.

An order for printing 1,000,000 automobile registration forms has been placed with the state printing department, and the printing contract is expected to be let within the next few days. Seven thousand pounds of special-grade paper has already been received by the printing department to be used for registration cards.

Instead of the applicant for an automobile license filling out but one form blank, as has been the practice in the past, he will fill out four forms under the new system, which goes into effect immediately for the 1927 license plates, it was said. The four forms will be attached to the application blank, and one will constitute the certificate of the applicant and will be returned with the tag.

The new system, which is almost identical with that in use by the state of New York, will not only expedite delivery of tags to applicants during the rush season when several thousand applications are received daily, but will greatly reduce the amount of clerical work in the secretary of state's office, it was said.

The extra forms which the motorist will fill out have, heretofore, been filled out in the state office, and led to considerable delay in mailing out the license plates. Under the new system the license plates will be mailed out the same day the applications are received, it was pointed out.

CLARK'S TOURS FOR NEXT SUMMER BEING PLANNED

Anticipating still further increase in the number of American tourists visiting Europe in the summer, Clark's Tours, in New York, have just concluded a charter of the oil burning new steamer, "Lancaster," of the Cunard Line and will start this vessel from New York July 2, 1927, exclusively reserved for Clark tourists over a 52-day itinerary comprising Lisbon, Spain, Gibraltar, Tangier, Algiers, Italy, the Riviera, Genoa, Naples, Rome, Sicily, Palermo, Messina, Trossachs and Berlin. Optional side trips permitting visits to Madrid, Granada, Florence, Venice, Paris, London and other European capitals also are included.

'MADONNA OF HARBOR' PURCHASE IS URGED

"The Madonna of the Harbor," one of the greatest pictures in the exhibition now on at the new High Museum of Art, has been recommended by the art committee of the Atlanta Art association for purchase for the permanent Atlanta collection.

This painting is from the brush of Charles W. Hawthorne, and has attracted as much attention as any of the three hundred works of art during the two weeks' exhibition here. Mr. Hawthorne is one of the greatest of living American painters and his work, "The Fish and the Man," also included in the exhibition, was awarded the first William A. Clark prize of $1,500.

at the Corcoran Gallery last year, and also the gold medal.

The executive committee of the association will meet this morning to finally pass upon the recommendation of the art committee regarding this purchase.

Today is the final day of the exhibition, which was brought here to open the new High Museum and which has been in progress for two weeks. There has been a steady growth in attendance and enhancement in interest. Many of the paintings and sculpture have been purchased by local art lovers, and several commissions have been made with the distinguished artists who visited here.

Sidney Dickinson and Albert Stern, two of the greatest living portrait painters, are now at work on portraits and will remain in Atlanta for some time to complete them.

The price for admission on this, the last day, is 35c for adults and 25c for children. On Monday the officers of the Grand Central Galleries will begin repacking the pictures and sculpture which may be left unsold, for shipment to New York.

100 INOCULATIONS ANTI-DIPHTHERIA TOXIN MADE DAILY

City health officials for the past several days have been inoculating an average of 100 children a day to prevent the spread of diphtheria. Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer.

This step has been taken in order to stem an unusual outbreak of the disease in Atlanta, 24 cases having been reported last week. Although the disease attacks children mostly, several cases have been diagnosed among adults, and Dr. Kennedy urged parents to have their children inoculated before exposure.

The injections are diphtheria toxin anti-toxin and assure immunity after a period of about six weeks.

THREE PLEAD GUILTY ON TRADING CHARGE

Walter Smith, Ab Smith and F. E. McClain, entered pleas of guilty Friday before Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court on charges of violating the Georgia law governing dealing in futures on margin and each were fined $100 or given the alternative of serving six months on the chain-gang.

With the disposition of these cases, six indictments against brokers and their employees have been disposed of following the trial of B. L. Layton, branch manager of Fenner & Beane, on a similar indictment. Layton received a fine of $1,000 and a sentence of 12 months on the chain-gang. More than 100 brokers and employees are under indictment. Layton is under $5,000 bond pending hearing on a motion for a new trial.

Amount of Air Mail To Be Determined In Canvass of City

Business houses of Atlanta will be canvassed by the chamber of commerce to learn the amount of air mail this city can supply, it was announced Friday when R. H. Horton, director of the air transport survey branch of the department of commerce conferred with postoffice officials, heads of the chamber of commerce and Alderman W. B. Harris, chairman of the municipal handling field committee.

Mr. Horton is making a survey of the probable commercial business for air lines from Atlanta to New York, to Chicago by way of Louisville and Indianapolis, and other lines, and the questionnaires to be issued by the chamber of commerce will seek information on the situation in this city.

Arriving late Thursday by airplane, Mr. Horton spent all of Friday conferring with Atlantians interested in air mail, and will leave today for Miami by plane. Lieutenant G. L. Murray is pilot.

MARINE MAIL GUARD HEAD ARRIVES TODAY

Brig. Gen. Logan Feland, commandant of the marine mail guard in the eastern half of the United States, will arrive this morning to inspect the guard in this city.

BRIG. GEN. LOGAN FELAND

General Feland will inspect the guard in this city. After conferring with postoffice officials and Mayor Sims, General Feland will leave at night for New Orleans. Methods of guarding mails in Atlanta will be inspected with a view to seeing that mails are adequately protected.

General Feland entered the marine corps in 1899 as a first lieutenant, and has served on all foreign stations, including the Philippines, and also aboard battleships.

General Feland served in the Spanish-American war as a captain of Kentucky volunteers, and was cited for bravery. During the World War he went to France as a member of General Pershing's staff. He holds the D. S. C., the army D. S. M., the navy D. S. M., the Croix de Guerre with many palms, and is a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED AT COLON, GEORGIA

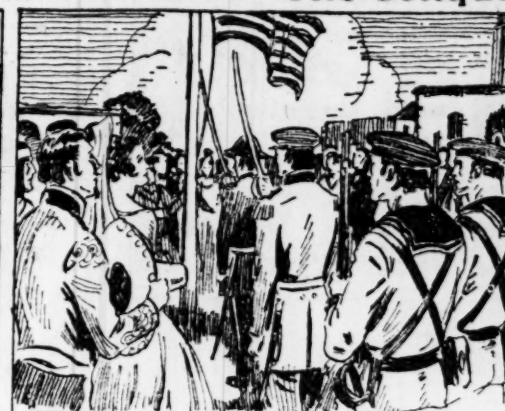

The postoffice at Colon, Ga., was entered and robbed Wednesday night, according to information received Friday by Joe P. Johnston, inspector in charge, from John M. Young, postmaster at that point. The telegram said that four C. O. D. packages and $100 in stamps and pennies formed the loot of the burglars. A window was smashed in the forced entry.

Lansing, Mich.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I needed it. When I first used it I was so bad I could hardly walk across the room without crying. I was tired all the time. I think my trouble was coming on me for six months before I realized it. I read of your wonderful medicine in the paper, and my husband bought me a bottle, and after the first few doses I felt better, so kept on taking it until I was well and strong. I take it at times when I feel tired and it helps me. I will always have a good word for your medicine and tell anyone what good it has done me. I recommended it to my neighbor for her girl, who is sixteen years old, and it was just what she needed. She is feeling fine now, and goes to school every day."

—Mrs. E. P. Bassett, 216 South Hayford Avenue, Lansing, Michigan.

Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is sold by druggists everywhere.

Seven Free Trips To Europe Offered As Oratory Prizes

Washington, October 29.—(AP)—Seven free trips to Europe will be awarded to grand prize winners in the second international oratorical contest to be held next summer under auspices of a group of American newspapers cooperating with foreign publications.

Randolph Leigh, director of the contest, in an announcement today said Argentina and Hawaii have been added to the list of participants which again will include the five countries—England, Canada, Mexico, France and the United States, taking part this year.

The contest, open to high school boys and girls, is designed to promote interest in the basic principles of government, and this year more than 2,500,000 school children participated in the various preliminary contests. Herbert Wenzel, of Hollywood, Cal., the United States spokesman, won the grand prize.

In next year's contest the respective winner in each country will be awarded a free trip to Europe, and the international finals will be held afterwards in Washington, D. C., on October 4.

The international contest is an outgrowth of the national oratorical contest in the United States, which is now in its fourth year, and which is an integral part of the international contest.

Subjects from which participants in the United States may choose are "The Constitution of the United States," "Washington and the Constitution," "America's Contribution to Constitutional Government," or any one of the following and the constitution, Washington, Hamilton, Franklin, Jefferson, Marshall, Madison, Webster, Lincoln.

The orations must be original, and must not require more than 10 minutes for delivery. Any high school pupil born subsequent to February 1, 1908, will be eligible.

FUNERAL IN FORSYTH FOR MRS. E. S. PROCTOR

Forsyth, Ga., October 29.—(Special.)—The funeral of Mrs. E. S. Proctor, 73, was held here Thursday, and was in charge of Rev. T. M. Sullivan, pastor of the Forsyth Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Frank Barnett, of Birmingham, Ala., Mrs. Proctor was the widow of D. J. Proctor who had large business interests here where he died many years ago. Several years ago she moved with her children to Atlanta, and of late years lived part of the time with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Barnett, of Birmingham, Ala., where she died.

Mrs. Proctor was a devout member of the Methodist church, was an alumna of Bessie Tift college. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Frank Barnett, of Birmingham, and Mrs. W. S. Askew, of Atlanta; four sons, Terrell and Olesby Proctor, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Courland Proctor, Detroit, Mich., and Powell Proctor, Birmingham. Interment was in the city cemetery.

CITY HELD LIABLE FOR DAMAGE IN STREET COLLAPSE

Default in construction of city streets makes the city liable to damage resulting from faulty construction, the Georgia court of appeals decided Friday at the hearing of a case against the city of Atlanta brought by Paul Q. Robertson. He sued the city for $15,000 damages for alleged injuries he received when his automobile dropped about 15 feet into a cave-in on James street.

The case was first tried in Fulton superior court but was taken to the higher court when the city offered a general demurrer, saying the accident occurred when a defective sewer gave way and that the operation of sewers was a governmental function and is operated for the benefit of the public. The demurrer was overruled and the case was taken to the court of appeals.

(Special.)—Bishop Warren A. Candler will preach the decatur sermon here tomorrow of the new Methodist church at 11 o'clock. The service will mark the completion of payments of all debts on a $25,000 stone church. The cornerstone was laid in 1909, and the pews were installed during the pastorate of the present pastor, Rev. J. L. Hall.

The church has a membership of approximately 200, and the pastors who have served the church since 1909 include Rev. D. B. Cantel, Rev. E. G. Thompson, Rev. Nath Thompson and Rev. A. O. Black ell. All former pastors have been invited to be present tomorrow.

The day also marks the close of a four-year term for the present pastor, Rev. John L. Hall.

Stone Mountain Methodists Plan Church Dedication

Stone Mountain, Ga., October 29.—For the first time the Black sea and Mediterranean ports of Asiatic Turkey are to be linked by telephone. The whole of Anatolia is to have a network of phones.

Add 'Em Up and Win $2,000

First Award $2,000---Second Award $1,000, and 28 Other All Cash Awards
Win $2,000 CASH---No One Has a Better Chance Than YOU

THE PROBLEM:

What is the sum total of the figures forming the elephant? Simply add them up to get the solution.

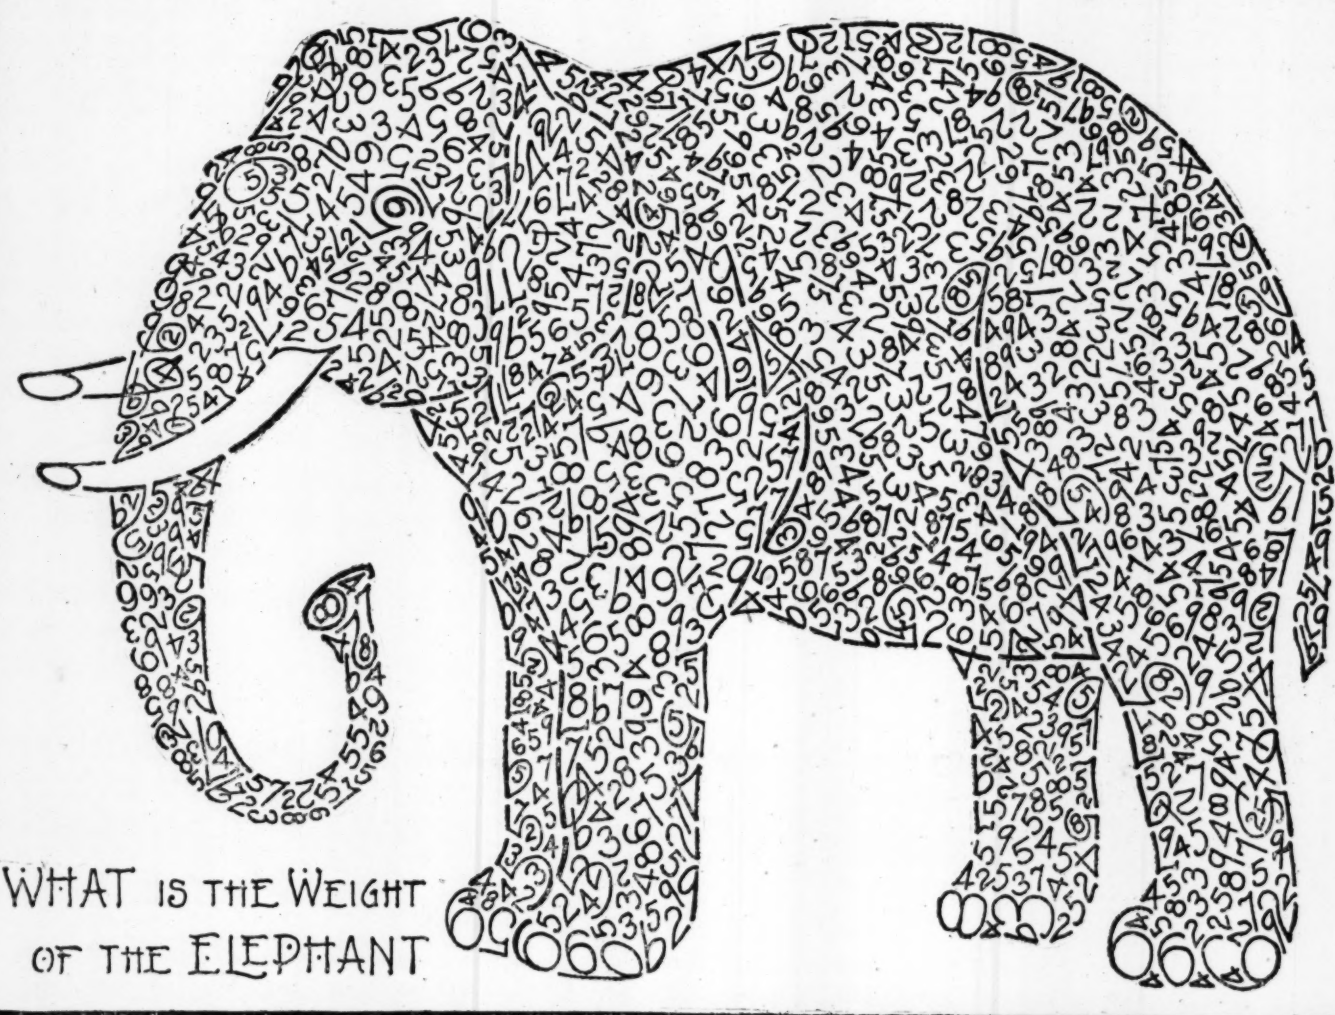

There are no marks, lines or characters in the elephant except figures. These figures range from 2 to 9, each standing alone. There are no "ones" or "ciphers." There are no groups of figures such as "23" or "42." The heads of the "6's" are distinctly curved, while the tails of the "4's" are straight, or practically so. There is no trick or illusion of any description in the chart.

General Rules of The Contest

1. All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states, meaning Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, east and middle Tennessee, may take part in this contest, except employees of The Atlanta Constitution, members of their families, and those who have won first and second awards in similar contests conducted by The Constitution.
2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the four amounts designated in the award list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one award. Once registered a solution cannot be changed.
3. The Atlanta Constitution offers five awards for individual solutions. While it is proper for each contestant to submit as many solutions as he desires, it is not permissible for more than one of those solutions to be submitted in a solution of the puzzle. The prize will be awarded to any one person, household, or group of persons working together. When the solution of the puzzle is found, the prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution. If two or more solutions are submitted at the same time, the prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution. If two or more solutions are submitted at the same time, the prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution.
4. The Atlanta Constitution is to decide any questions which may arise and are not covered by the published rules, and those entering the contest agree to abide by such decisions and accept them as final and conclusive.
5. All solutions must be mailed or delivered to The Atlanta Constitution, 120 Peachtree Street, N. E., Atlanta, Ga., by 9 o'clock Saturday, November 27, 1926. Solutions sent by mail bearing postmark of that date will be accepted. If the solution is received after that date, it will be accepted only if it is accompanied by a postmark of that date. The prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution. If two or more solutions are submitted at the same time, the prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution.
6. In case of ties, as many awards as there are solutions will be awarded. If two or more solutions are submitted at the same time, the prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution. If two or more solutions are submitted at the same time, the prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution.
7. This contest is open to both new and old subscribers alike. The regular subscription rate of $2.50 for three months, $5.00 for six months, $7.50 for nine months, and $10.00 for twelve months, will be accepted. If the solution is received after that date, it will be accepted only if it is accompanied by a postmark of that date. The prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution. If two or more solutions are submitted at the same time, the prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution.
8. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution and paying the carrier or agent by the week or month may send or bring directly to The Constitution the three, six or twelve month subscription, and such subscription will be accepted. If the solution is received after that date, it will be accepted only if it is accompanied by a postmark of that date. The prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution. If two or more solutions are submitted at the same time, the prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution.
9. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution and paying the carrier or agent by the week or month may send or bring directly to The Constitution the three, six or twelve month subscription, and such subscription will be accepted. If the solution is received after that date, it will be accepted only if it is accompanied by a postmark of that date. The prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution. If two or more solutions are submitted at the same time, the prize will be awarded to the person or persons who first submitted a correct solution.
10. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution and paying the carrier or agent by the week or month may send or bring directly to The Constitution the three, six or twelve month subscription, and such subscription will be accepted. If the solution is received after that date, it will be accepted only if it is accompanied by a postmark of that date. CLOSING DATE

The Great ELEPHANT PUZZLE CONTEST will close 9:00 P. M., Saturday, November 27, 1926.

The earlier you send in your solution, the longer time you will have to go over your figures and send in another solution IF YOU FIND YOU CAN DO BETTER. Additional charts may be secured by calling at the Circulation Department, or sending a self-addressed stamped envelope for mailing them.

No Solution Can Be Changed After It Has Been Once Registered

IMPORTANT FACTS TO REMEMBER

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win one of the first nine awards, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the award list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person.

New York, October 29.—(P)—The cotton market was quiet today. Fluctuations were comparatively narrow. After selling up to 12.54 early, January reacted to 12.40 and closed at 12.49. The general market closed steadily at net advances of 7 to 13 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 10 to 25 points as it influenced by relatively firm Liverpool. Cables, reports of a steady spot basis in the south, and continuance of buying for trade or investment account. Active months sold about 15 to 18 points higher in early trading. December advancing to 12.46 and March 12.82, but demand tapered off at these figures. This indicated the trade was still buying on the dips, and there was probably a little selling at midday on expectation of increased southern offerings toward the close.

No pressure of consequence from that source was in evidence in late trading, however, and after the midday reaction to 12.32 for December and 12.66 for March, late prices showed rallies of 6 to 10 points from the lowest.

The smaller volume of business was regarded by local brokers as reflecting a disposition to await further developments in the southern spot situation or a change in the attitude of trade buyers. Southern hedge selling here has been much less active than in the past few days. In the month, but stocks in the south are accumulating, and some feel they may become more of a pressure on the market before they have reached their maximum.

Such views are expressed more or less freely, but for the last day or two have been coupled with comment on the progress reported in plans for the financing or stored cotton, and some think if the south holds steady for a few days more, there may be a tendency to raise the limits on buying orders.

Private cables attributed steadiness in Liverpool to fair end-month calling and covering.

Exports today 48,118, making 2,339.

650 so far this season. Port receipts today 32,317. United States port stocks 2,382,069.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK.

New York, October 29.—(P)—Spot cotton quiet; middling, 12.65.

UPWARD TREND SEEN IN NEW ORLEANS TRADING.

New Orleans, October 29.—(P)—

The market was less active today than it has been of late. Price fluctuations were decidedly moderate and advance during the morning, the trend was reactionary in the afternoon on account of bearish week-end statistics. The market opened 10 points up on favorable cables and continued to improve during the morning on prospects for less favorable weather and the apparent success of the attempts to organize associations to hold off the market large amounts of cotton. By the middle of the morning prices showed gains of 15 to 16 points. Toward noon the tone was easier on the weekly mill takings of 492,000 bales, proving smaller than expected when over 500,000 had been looked for. Other weekly statistics were also bearish, particularly the large movement in sight of 887,955 bales. By the middle of the afternoon, practically all the gain of the morning had been lost. In the late trading reports of rains in north Texas started buying and shorts covering and prices rallied practically to the highs of the morning and closed very steady at net gains for the day of 10 to 12 points.

As Liverpool came in 1 to 4 penny points better than the market here showed initial gains of 10 points and this advance was increased during the first part of the morning. December trading up to 12.52, January to 12.60 and March to 12.76, or 15 to 16 points above yesterday's close. These figures proved to be the highs of the day.

The market started to ease off near noon and by the middle of the afternoon, December was down to 12.39, January to 12.46 and March to 12.65, or 13 to 15 points down from the highs and about level with the previous close. In the late trading the market rallied and closed at or near the top.

Exports for the day, 45,118 bales; for the week, 223,236 bales.

Selling of the chemical shares probably was influenced by the growing movement to restrict cotton production in the south next year.

Oil shares were again in brisk demand. Producers and Refiners common and preferred advancing to new high levels for the year and substantial gains being recorded by the Pan-American Petroleum and Refining.

Sugar shares were liquidated freely toward the close on publication of a poor earnings report by the Cuba Cane company.

Call Money Steady.

Railroad shares made little progress on the upside.

Call money held steady at 4 1/2 per cent, with banks calling about $15,000,000 in loans during the day. Time money was easier, 30 to 60-day loans being quoted at 4 1/2 to 5 per cent, with the longer maturities at 4 3/4 to 5 per cent. Commercial Paper ruled unchanged at 4 1/2 to 4 3/4.

Commodity Prices Moved Within a narrow range. Active wheat futures yielded fractionally, with speculative sentiment inclined to bearishness by the lack of export demand and heavy Canadian marketing. Cotton prices advanced 7 to 13 points in quiet trading. Raw sugar was unchanged and coffee prices advanced slightly.

A further advance of 5 points in French francs, which crossed 3.15 cents for the first time since last spring, was the result of a combination of factors in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was slightly firmer around $4.84-5.16, and Italian lire held steady just below 4.8 cents.

Weekly Cotton Statistics.

Liverpool, October 29.—Total forwarded to mills 65,000 bales, of which 41,000 were American, 24,000 American, 24,000 imports 125,000, American 97,000; exports 12,000, American 5,000.

Dry Goods.

New York, October 29.—Cotton goods were bought for later delivery in great quantities. The market was quiet. Yarns remained steady with some loss of volume. Raw silk reacted upward on reports of an attempt to curtail the output in Japan. It stated some loss of volume. Yarns are being offered at concessions to lighten stocks. Business was unchanged with some small sales of lightweights reported.

Rubber.

New York, October 29.—Rubber closed steady; December 42.00; March 44.00; May 44.50.

CAPTAIN SWINERTON GOES TO WASHINGTON

Captain Joseph M. Swinerton, United States Marine recruiting officer for this district for the past several years, has been ordered to Washington, D. C., it was announced Thursday.

Captain Swinerton has been in the naval hospital in Washington. It was stated in The Constitution Thursday morning that he had been in Walter Reed hospital, which is in error.

LAST SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. PEARSON

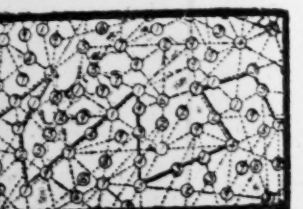

The body of Mrs. Homer Lee Pearson, 23, of Miami, who died at a private hospital Thursday following an illness of two weeks, was taken Friday morning to Vienna, where funeral services were held during the afternoon.

Mrs. Pearson formerly lived in Atlanta and was a graduate of the Nurses Training school at Piedmont hospital. During her graduate course there she formed an acquaintance with Dr. Pearson, whom she later married.

Following mergers involving stock of no par value, and with no rights attached to the securities of a Philadelphia lawyer required by the shareholder to find out what is owned and where.

What has been going on in public utilities companies under present day improved methods is as bad, if not worse than the predilection for shuffling and skulduggery that took place in the good old days of private management of the railroads headed by business men without any interference from federal commissions. There is not the speculation today in public utility shares that exists in public utility stocks for the reason that the intelligent investor knows that the railroad industry has been greatly reduced. As a result there has never been a time in the history of our country when they have been as efficient or when their securities enjoyed as much confidence on the part of the intelligent investors. To far-sighted men who know their way around in Wall street there is absolutely nothing in this good old days stuff as far as the railroads are concerned. Sooner or later holders of public utility companies will come to the same conclusion.

Deciding Ties—If Any

Actual Size, 11x7 inches.
In case of a tie for any prize will be presented with a second puzzle, which will consist of drawing a line across the face of a chart of figures, like the accompanying chart, only larger, so that the figure consisting of numbers added together will total the greatest sum. If necessary this chart will be used five times, after which, should any tie from a second contestant will receive full value of any prize tied for.

In case there are no ties on counting the Elephant no other puzzle, of course, will be presented.

Shopping Pays On Last Days!

Today, Saturday—October 30th—the last day for October purchasing, has been made an unusual value-giving day by the Automobile dealers represented on this page. To start a week of special offerings, each of the following dealers have taken a choice number of used cars and made marked reductions on them. Each one of the cars in the groups below are outstanding bargains, priced lower than they have been before and doubtless lower than they ever will be again, because these prices will remain in effect for one week only and if there are any at all left, they will return to the price at which they were originally marked—the real worth and attentive appraised value of the cars. Any of the cars below are ready for your inspection—but REMEMBER that prices quoted here are effective for one week, beginning SATURDAY.

Staple As Sugar Or Salt

The confidence of the public in our used car policy and used car prices is proven by constantly increased sales. Do not be misled into believing you may get "something for nothing" by exaggerated statements contained in some advertising. Our prices reflect the value we offer and we feel that a personal inspection of any car listed will convince you that this is so.
